International Business Law: Starting or Buying an Arizona Business

With a few exceptions, Arizona does not impose a citizenship or even a residency requirement on non-citizens seeking to start or buy an existing business in Arizona. At The Law Offices of Donald W. Hudspeth, we offer complete business services to non-citizens who are purchasing or starting a business in Arizona. We will draft your initial purchase contract or operating agreement, ensure that your business complies with all Arizona and federal laws on an ongoing basis, and passionately advocate for your interests in court should business litigation arise.

Investing in Arizona

As its economy recovers from the housing bust, Arizona is ideally situated for foreign investment, especially from partners in Canada and Mexico. Arizona participates in the CANAMEX Corridor Coalition, promoting safe and secure trade between Canada, the U.S., and Mexico. Arizona is increasingly competing with Florida as a winter retreat and retirement location for Canada's fabled snowbirds. And Arizona's large population of documented Mexican immigrants promises a ready pool of consumers to any Mexican company looking to open an Arizona branch, even as Mexican corporations generally continue to increase their holdings in national and regional U.S. businesses.

International contracts must specify the forum (e.g. arbitration in London) and the law (CISG). There are no courthouses in the middle of the ocean, so if you do not specify these you may not be able to enforce the contract.
