

Small Plane Hits Car in Napa, 4 Injured

By Injury Attorneys Sacramento on 08/29/11

Four people were injured Sunday when a small plane performed a crash landing on a Highway 29 near the Napa County Airport and hit a car from behind. The single engine Beech aircraft was forced to make an emergency “gear up” landing on Highway 29 at 12:37 p.m. after it lost power. The plane skidded onto the highway and struck the car from behind. Two people in the car and the occupants of the plane suffered injuries. The extent of the injuries are unknown and this Napa accident remains under investigation by the CHP, the FAA, and the National Transportation Safety Board.

Anyone seriously injured in a Sacramento car accident or Sacramento aviation accident has a number of serious legal issues to deal with. First, the legal responsibility for the collision must be determined. Sometimes that requires investigation beyond what is contained in the investigation report by the responding agencies. Second, the medical bills must be paid. Even if there is health insurance to pay for the bills initially, the health insurance company will likely seek reimbursement from any liability insurance recovery. That means that the health insurance company will be competing for money that otherwise would go to the injured victim. Third, when there are multiple people injured in a crash, they will often be competing for a proportional share of a limited amount of insurance money. Lastly, insurance companies will do whatever they can to avoid paying fair compensation for not only medical bills, but lost income and pain and suffering as well.

Because of these and many other issues, injury victims an involved in an injury accident like this are strongly urged to consult with an experienced California Personal Injury Attorney who will make sure that your rights are protected and that you are dealt with fairly.
