

IN THE CIRCUIT COURT OF COOK COUNTY, ILLINOIS
COUNTY DEPARTMENT, LAW DIVISION

SCHOLASTIC INC.

Plaintiff,

v.

INFINITY RESOURCES, INC. d/b/a
DEEPDISCOUNT.COM, and LEVY HOME
ENTERTAINMENT, LLC,

Defendants.

Case No.

Judge

PLAINTIFF DEMANDS JURY TRIAL

Breach of Contract

2007L007463

CALENDAR ROOM 5

DEPT. OF CLERK

CLERK LAW DIV.

FILED
07 JUL 18 PM 3:01
DOROTHY E. ...

COMPLAINT

Plaintiff Scholastic Inc. (“Scholastic”) by its attorneys, for its complaint against Defendants Infinity Resources, Inc. (“Infinity”) and Levy Home Entertainment, LLC (“Levy”), alleges as follows:

NATURE OF THE ACTION

1. This action arises out of Infinity’s and Levy’s flagrant violations of their strict contractual obligations to refrain from shipping or allowing to be shipped or otherwise distributing Harry Potter and the Deathly Hallows (“the Book”), the last volume of Plaintiff’s highly acclaimed Harry Potter series of children’s books (the “Series” or the “Books”) by J.K. Rowling to the public until the worldwide on-sale date of July 21, 2007.

2. The seventh (and last) book in the Series is scheduled for simultaneous publication in the English language, throughout the world, at 12:01 a.m. on July 21, 2007. This release is a highly-anticipated event around the world and has received tremendous press coverage. The Book is subject to a worldwide embargo until that time. In the United States, none of the approximately 12 million books in the first announced printing may be sold or delivered until 12:01a.m. July 21, 2007. Distributors and retailers have all signed special contracts “embargoing” the books until that date and virtually no details regarding the highly anticipated release have been disclosed by the author J.K. Rowling or her publishers.

3. In a complete and flagrant violation of the agreements that they knew were part of the carefully constructed release of this eagerly awaited Book, both Levy and Infinity have ignored the strict contractual requirements to which they expressly agreed, which was fashioned to protect Scholastic’s distribution plans and enforce author Rowling’s right of first publication under the U.S. Copyright Act. Infinity has shipped, on information and belief, copies of Harry Potter and the Deathly Hallows up to a week before the contractually permitted shipping date, thereby causing damage to Scholastic, and its relationships with its distributors and retailers nationwide. Infinity’s and Levy’s completely unauthorized breach in addition has endangered Scholastic’s efforts and those of the author and the author’s other publishers to maintain the surprise of the Book so that all of the Harry Potter fans around the world may come to its contents at the same time. In addition, this breach has caused Scholastic and others to incur expense in order to mitigate the damages caused by Infinity and Levy.

JURISDICTION AND VENUE

4. This Court has personal jurisdiction over Infinity because it does business in Illinois.

5. This Court has personal jurisdiction over Levy because it does business in Illinois.

6. This Court is the proper venue for this action under 735 ILCS 5/2-101 because (a) the principal place of business of Defendant Levy is in Cook County, Illinois; (b) Defendants do business in Cook County; and (c) part of the transactions out of which these causes of action arose occurred in Cook County.

THE PARTIES

7. Plaintiff Scholastic is a New York corporation with its principal of business at 557 Broadway, New York, New York, 10012. Scholastic is and, at all times material herein, was engaged in the business of, among other things, publishing and distributing books for children and related merchandise. Scholastic has the exclusive right to publish Harry Potter and the Deathly Hallows in the United States, as well as the first six books in the Series,

8. Defendant Infinity Resources, Inc. (d/b/a DeepDiscount.com) is an Illinois corporation with its principal place of business at 900 N. Rohling Road, Itasca, Illinois 60143. Infinity is an internet marketer and maintains an internet retail website at www.DeepDiscount.com.

9. Defendant Levy Home Entertainment, LLC (“Levy”) is a Delaware Limited Liability Company with its principal place of business at 1930 George Street, Unit 1, Melrose Park, Illinois 60160. Upon information and belief, Levy is engaged in the business of receiving books from publishers such as Scholastic and distributing those books to its retail accounts.

FACTS

10. Since the fourth book in the Harry Potter series, the books have all been embargoed prior to their worldwide release. In book publishing, an embargoed book is one that the author and publisher decide should not be put out for sale in book stores or other venues until a particular date in order to protect its contents from premature release.. All the sales venues as well as the printing and other vendors are contractually obligated to preserve the confidentiality of the book until what is called the laydown date, the date the book is to be put out for sale. The Harry Potter Books are unusual in that they have not only a laydown date, but a time—12:01 a.m. This is to allow all the readers to experience the books at the same time at the midnight parties or sleepovers or wherever they choose in accordance with the publishers' plans and the author's expressed wishes.

11. For the past several months, Scholastic has been working with national and local retail promoters on the launch of Harry Potter and the Deathly Hallows. Scholastic's marketing plan, based on the theme "THERE WILL SOON BE 7," is centered on the Book's 12:01 a.m. July 21 release and the mysteries that will be resolved at that time.

12. Author Rowling's revelation of the few meager details of this final book in the series, including its title, has been met with extraordinary public interest. In the one month from the date Rowling revealed the title on her website the site received 259 million "hits" and the event merited worldwide press coverage.

13. Scholastic and Rowling have worked hard to ensure that all of the content of Harry Potter and the Deathly Hallows remains secret until the book's official release. Rowling has refused to discuss Harry Potter and the Deathly Hallows in any detail in media interviews and her fans, in general, do not want "spoilers" about what will happen in Harry Potter and the Deathly Hallows. In addition, Scholastic's own website, Scholastic.com has received approximately 9.5 million hits from fans interested in discussing the Book and the Series and expressing their wishes not to learn of the Book's contents before its scheduled publication. The Book's fans fervently support and respect Rowling's wish to keep details about the book secret until publication.

Scholastic's Extraordinary Security Measures

14. Scholastic has implemented numerous security measures to prevent pre-publication leaks of any details regarding Harry Potter and the Deathly Hallows. Among other things, Scholastic has severely restricted access to the book solely to individuals with a need to know, stored drafts and finished copies of the book in a safe or locked facility, utilized confidential tracking codes for shipments of the finished book and declined to send out pre-publication review copies (which is highly unusual in the publishing industry).

15. Scholastic has entered into agreements with distributors and booksellers that obligate those parties to store copies of the book securely and not to release any copies to the public before 12:01 a.m. on July 21, 2007. In addition, Scholastic's contracts with distributors and retailers absolutely require that for any shipments to customers to occur before July 20, 2007, each distributor and/or retailer was clearly required to obtain Scholastic's prior written approval, an approval that required a review of that retailer's shipping plans to avoid early receipt of the Book by its readers. It was the duty of the distributor to enforce this requirement with its retailers as well as the direct duty of each retailer to comply with these provisions.

16. Scholastic also has entered into strict confidentiality agreements with all of the third parties with whom it contracts to provide services in connection with Harry Potter and the Deathly Hallows, including those responsible for printing, storing and shipping the books specifically prohibiting these third parties from disclosing any materials or information relating to the book.

The Infinity And Levy Contracts

17. On or about March 10, 2007, along with Scholastic's other retailers nationwide, Infinity signed a contract obligating it to strictly comply with the worldwide embargo for the sale and shipment of Harry Potter and the Deathly Hallows (the "Infinity Embargo Agreement" attached hereto as Exhibit A.) The Infinity Embargo Agreement is a supplement to the Scholastic Inc. On-Sale Date Policy Contract, attached hereto as Exhibit B. In pertinent part the Infinity Embargo Agreement provides as follows:

The undersigned account (“we”) [i.e., Infinity] hereby agrees to abide by the embargo of Harry Potter and the Deathly Hallows until the national on-sale date of July 23, 2007 (the “On-Sale Date”). If we receive our copies prior to the On-Sale Date, we shall ensure that those books are kept secure . . . and are not sold or distributed and do not leave our secure environment . . . prior to the On-Sale Date. We acknowledge and agree that this embargo prohibits distribution to our staff and distribution of complimentary copies. . . . We further agree to keep the number of our employees with access to the secure environment to the minimum number necessary for our operation.

Any retailers, including on-line retailers, who wish to ship to their customers prior to the On-Sale Date, may do so only with prior written approval from Scholastic. The earliest ship dates allowed will be July 20, 2007. No customer may receive the book prior to the On-Sale Date and any such wishing to early ship to their customers must agree that they shall not ship any copies in any manner or at any time that might allow their customers to receive such copies prior to July 21, 2007.

* * *

In addition to the consequences which apply to violations of the 2007 Scholastic On-Sale Date Policy, and without limiting Scholastic’s rights and remedies, we acknowledge and agree that any store that violates the restrictions found in this Agreement (“Violations”) will be subject to the following: (i) the violating store will be liable for any and all attorney’s fees and damages, incurred as a result of such Violations. . . . Furthermore, we acknowledge and agree that any such Violation will cause irreparable harm to Scholastic and the author, J.K. Rowling, and that monetary damages will be inadequate to compensate for Violations and that, in addition to any other remedies that may be available, at law, in equity or otherwise, Scholastic and/or J.K. Rowling shall be entitled to obtain injunctive relief against any Violation, without the necessity of proving actual damages or posting any bond.

On behalf of the undersigned account, I have read the On-Sale Date Announcement and this Agreement concerning the On-Sale Date for Harry Potter and the Deathly Hallows and agree to abide by the conditions set forth above. Furthermore, I will make sure all personnel involved with Harry Potter and the Deathly Hallows as our company are informed of, and comply with, this Agreement and its restrictions. (Emphasis Added)

18. On or about April 9, 2007, Levy executed a supplement to the Scholastic Inc. On-Sale Date Policy Contract obligating it to “ensure” that the books shipped to Levy “are not sold or distributed by our accounts . . . prior to the On-Sale Date.” (A copy of the “Levy Agreement” is attached as Exhibit C.) In accordance with this obligation, Levy agreed as follows:

In the event that one of our accounts commits a Violation, we acknowledge and agree that we may be held jointly liable with the violating account for such Violation and subject to the foregoing [list of available remedies].

19. Upon information and belief, Infinity is an “account” of Levy for purposes of the Levy Agreement.

Infinity’s Breach

20. On information and belief, Infinity has repeatedly violated the Infinity Embargo Agreement in all of the following ways:

- Shipping copies of Harry Potter and the Deathly Hallows to customers prior to July 20, 2007;
- Shipping copies of Harry Potter and the Deathly Hallows to customers prior to July 20, 2007 without the express prior written consent of Scholastic;
- Delivering copies of Harry Potter and the Deathly Hallows to customers prior to July 21, 2007;

21. As a consequence of Infinity’s violations, Scholastic has sustained damages and incurred costs. At the time of the filing of this Complaint, Scholastic is not able to fully assess its damages, but will supplement this filing as the facts become available

22. Plaintiff Scholastic demands a trial by jury.

COUNT I – BREACH OF CONTRACT AGAINST INFINITY

23. Plaintiff realleges and incorporates by reference the allegations in Paragraphs 1 through 22.

24. The Infinity Embargo Agreement is a valid and binding contract supported by consideration.

25. Infinity breached the Infinity Embargo Agreement by shipping Harry Potter and the Deathly Hallows to customers prior to July 20, 2007, shipping Harry Potter and the Deathly Hallows to customers prior to July 20, 2007 without the express consent of Scholastic, and by delivering copies of Harry Potter and the Deathly Hallows to customers prior to July 21, 2007.

26. Plaintiff has performed each and every obligation required of it under the Infinity Embargo Agreement.

27. Plaintiff has been injured and will continue to be injured due to Infinity's breach.

WHEREFORE, Plaintiff Scholastic requests that the Court enter a judgment in Scholastic's favor and against Infinity and provide Scholastic the following relief:

- A. Order, adjudge and decree that Infinity has materially breached the Infinity Embargo Agreement with Scholastic;
- B. Temporarily, preliminarily and permanently restrain and enjoin Infinity from further violations of its contractual obligations under the Infinity Embargo Agreement;
- C. Award damages in an amount to be determined after discovery and such other relief to Scholastic as Scholastic requests and the Court deems appropriate and just.

COUNT II – BREACH OF CONTRACT AGAINST LEVY

28. Plaintiff realleges and incorporates by reference the allegations in Paragraphs 1 through 27.

29. The Levy Agreement is a valid and binding contract supported by consideration.

30. Under the Levy Agreement, Levy agreed to "ensure" that the books shipped to Levy "are not sold or distributed by our accounts ... prior to the On-Sale Date."

31. Infinity, an account of Levy, shipped Harry Potter and the Deathly Hallows to customers prior to July 20, 2007, shipped Harry Potter and the Deathly Hallows to customers prior to July 20, 2007 without the express consent of Scholastic, and by delivering copies of Harry Potter and the Deathly Hallows to its customers prior to July 21, 2007.

32. Through the Levy Agreement, Levy agreed to be jointly and severally liable for any damages caused by a breach by Infinity of the Infinity Embargo Agreement.

33. Plaintiff has been injured and will continue to be injured due to Infinity's breach.

WHEREFORE, Plaintiff Scholastic requests that the Court enter a judgment in Scholastic's favor and against Levy and provide Scholastic the following relief:

- A. Order, adjudge and decree that Levy has materially breached the Levy Agreement with Scholastic;
- B. Hold Levy jointly liable with Infinity for Infinity's breach of the Infinity Agreement;
- C. Temporarily, preliminarily and permanently restrain and enjoin Levy from further violations of its contractual obligations under the Levy Agreement;
- D. Award damages in an amount to be determined after discovery and such other relief to Scholastic as Scholastic requests and the Court deems appropriate and just. OF AT LEAST $ 30,001.00

Dated: July 18, 2007

Respectfully submitted,

---

One of the Attorneys for Plaintiff Scholastic Inc.

Kenneth E. Kraus
William B. Berndt
SCHOPF & WEISS LLP
One South Wacker Drive, 28th Floor
Chicago, Illinois 60606-4617
312.701.9300

EXHIBIT A

(supplement to the Scholastic 2007 On-Sale Date Policy Contract)

The undersigned account ("we") hereby agrees to abide by the embargo of Harry Potter and the Deathly Hallows until the national on-sale date of July 31, 2007 (the "On-Sale Date"). If we receive our copies prior to the On-Sale Date, we shall ensure that these books are kept secure and not placed on the selling floor and/or in any display areas, and are not sold or distributed and do not leave our secure environment (except as set forth below) prior to the On-Sale Date. If we have any retail distribution centers ("RDC"), we acknowledge and agree that this Agreement applies to each such RDC and any redistribution of copies prior to the On-Sale Date through such RDCs shall be only in strict quantities, in Scholastic's original format, unless we have Scholastic's prior written approval to redistribute in less than strict quantities. We acknowledge and agree that this embargo prohibits distribution to our staff and distribution of complimentary copies. We further agree not to allow any third parties, including without limitation members of the press and media, into our secure environment unless we have provided Scholastic at least one week's prior written notice and delivered to Scholastic with such notice a signed copy of the enclosed Access Guidelines confirming our agreement to abide by such guidelines, and have obtained Scholastic's prior written approval. Notices and written confirmation of our agreement to comply with the Access Guidelines shall be sent to Scholastic Inc., Attn: Alan Smiglow, 557 Broadway, New York, NY 10012, fax # 212-389-3050. We further agree to keep the number of our employees with access to the secure environment to the minimum number necessary for our operation.

* Any retailers, including on-line retailers, who wish to ship to their customers prior to the On-Sale Date, may do so only with prior written approval from Scholastic. The earliest ship date allowed will be July 20, 2007. No retailer may receive the book prior to the On-Sale Date and any such retailers wishing to early ship to their customers must agree that they shall not ship any copies in any manner or at any time that might allow their customers to receive such copies prior to July 31, 2007. Requests for an Early Shipping Permission form for permission to ship early should be made in writing to Scholastic Inc., Attn: Helen Bolson, 557 Broadway, New York, NY 10012, or via email to ebolson@scholastic.com with the subject "Request for Early Shipping Permission", or via fax to 212-389-3124.

Scholastic will make available a Book Promotional Style Guide that contains materials and guidelines for the advertising and promotion of Harry Potter and the Deathly Hallows and all related communications. We acknowledge and agree that all communications relating to any and all Harry Potter books, including without limitation Harry Potter and the Deathly Hallows (including without limitation advertising and promotional materials, press releases, media tours and all communications with the media), must comply with the Book Promotional Style Guide and be submitted to Scholastic for prior written approval.

In addition to the consequences which apply to violations of the 2007 Scholastic On-Sale Date Policy, and without limiting Scholastic's rights and remedies, we acknowledge and agree that any store that violates the restrictions found in this Agreement ("Violations") will be subject to the following: (i) the violating store will be liable for any and all another's fees and damages, incurred as a result of such Violations; (ii) Scholastic may withhold re-supply to the violating store of Harry Potter and other embargoed titles until the corresponding on-sale date. Furthermore, we not only ship to the violating store any Harry Potter or other embargoed titles until the corresponding on-sale date. Furthermore, we acknowledge and agree that any such Violation will cause irreparable harm to Scholastic and the author, J.K. Rowling, and that monetary damages will be inadequate to compensate for Violations and that, in addition to any other remedies that may be available, at law, in equity or otherwise, Scholastic and/or J.K. Rowling shall be entitled to obtain injunctive relief against any Violation, without the necessity of proving actual damages or posting any bond. If we are an account with multiple stores, we acknowledge and agree that in the event one of our stores commits a Violation, we may be held jointly liable with the violating store for such Violation and subject to the foregoing.

All other terms and conditions of the 2007 Scholastic On-Sale Date Policy still apply and remain in full force and effect. Scholastic intends to create the Harry Potter and the Deathly Hallows laydown very closely and appreciates your complete cooperation.

On behalf of the undersigned account, I have read the On-Sale Date Announcement and this Agreement concerning the On-Sale Date for Harry Potter and the Deathly Hallows and agree to abide by the conditions set forth above. Furthermore, I will make sure all personnel involved with Harry Potter and the Deathly Hallows at our company are informed of and comply with this Agreement and its restrictions.

Date: 3/10/07

Account number: _____

Signature: [Signature]

Printed name of the signor: _____

Phone number of the signor: _____

Account name: INFINITY RESOURCES INC (DEEPRD@VAULT.COM)

(** If you are submitting this to the customer of a distributor, Distributor's Name: LEVY)

Statement address: 900 N RUSHING RD (Street)

ITASCA, IL 60143 (City, State, Zip Code)

EXHIBIT B

2007 SCHOLASTIC INC. ON-SALE DATE POLICY

Scholastic is committed to providing a fair and equitable distribution of its titles to all of its customers. Some titles ("Restricted Titles") are subject to an "on-sale date" to which all distributors and retailers must abide. Scholastic will notify you, either directly or through trade publication notices, of which titles will be treated as Restricted Titles and the related on-sale dates. In order for you to receive copies of Restricted Titles before the on-sale date to facilitate distribution and re-sale to your customers and to ensure fair distribution for all booksellers, Restricted Titles will be subject to the following:

1. All releases of Restricted Title cartons will be clearly marked with the on-sale date. Please call 800-242-7737 to report violations.
2. Your receipt of Restricted Titles in advance of the on-sale date will be permitted solely to allow you to process your shipment for redistribution/resale in accordance with the terms hereof.
3. You must ensure that Restricted Titles are kept secure and not placed on any selling floor and/or in any display areas, and are not sold or otherwise distributed (including without limitation to your staff) and do not leave your secure environment prior to their on-sale date. All resellers must ensure that their accounts/retail locations are aware of and abide by the on-sale dates. Distributors, as well as retailers redistributing to their retail locations, must provide to their accounts/retail locations clear, explicit written instructions appropriate for both full carton and less than full carton quantities.

4. Retailers

- A. Any retail location that sells, displays or otherwise distributes a Restricted Title prior to its on-sale date for the first time will be required immediately to take the Restricted Title off sale until the on-sale date and will be placed on a watch list for 12 months following this first violation.
- B. Any retail location that sells, displays or otherwise distributes a Restricted Title prior to its on-sale date a second time while on the watch list will not be shipped Restricted Titles until the on-sale date for the duration of the 12 month period (i.e., Scholastic will not ship from its warehouse or other facility until the on-sale date).
- C. No retail customers, including on-line retailers, may allow Restricted Titles to arrive at their customer's address ahead of the on-sale date. Retailers may ship copies the day before the on-sale date to arrive on the on-sale date (but not before) provided that they obtain Scholastic's prior written approval no less than thirty (30) days prior to the on-sale date.

5. Distributors/Retail Distribution Centers

- A. Any distributor/retail distribution center that ships a Restricted Title to a retail location that violates the On-Sale Date Policy for the first time, will be responsible for calling and instructing the retail location to take the title off sale and secure all copies until the on-sale date. In addition, the distributor/retail distribution center and all violating retail locations will be placed on a watch list for the 12 months following this first violation.
- B. Should a retail location on the 12 month watch list violate the On-Sale Date Policy a second time, the distributor/retail distribution center will be required to not ship Restricted Titles to the violating retail location until the on-sale date (i.e., the distributor/retail distribution center will not ship from its warehouse or other facility until the on-sale date).
- C. Distributors/Retail Distribution Centers will be responsible for ensuring their accounts/retail locations comply with this On-Sale Date Policy. Any distributor/retail distribution center that fails to cooperate with Scholastic in enforcing the above terms with its accounts/retail locations, or that violates the On-Sale Date Policy itself, may itself be subject to penalties as Scholastic deems appropriate.

6. Notwithstanding the terms of this policy, Scholastic reserves the right to review any account's compliance record with this policy, and to take appropriate action if necessary. Certain Restricted Titles may warrant variation from or supplements to this policy and you will be notified in advance of any such situations. These terms are subject to change upon notice.

EXHIBIT C

SCHOLASTIC INC.

HARRY POTTER AND THE DEATHLY HALLOWS

AGREEMENT

(DISTRIBUTOR)

(supplement to the Scholastic 2007 On-Sale Date Policy Contract)

The undersigned account ("we") hereby agrees to abide by the embargo of Harry Potter and the Deathly Hallows until the national on-sale date of July 21, 2007 (the "On-Sale Date"). If we receive our copies prior to the On-Sale Date, we shall ensure that these books are kept secure and not placed on any selling floor and/or in any display areas, and are not sold or distributed by our accounts, and do not leave our secure environment prior to the On-Sale Date, except as permitted for distribution to our accounts in accordance with the terms of this Agreement. We acknowledge and agree that this embargo prohibits distribution to our staff and distribution of complimentary copies. We further agree not to allow any third parties, including without limitation members of the press and media, into our secure environment, unless we have provided Scholastic at least one week's prior written notice, have delivered to Scholastic with such notice a signed copy of the enclosed Access Guidelines confirming our agreement to abide by such guidelines, and have obtained Scholastic's prior written approval. Notice and written confirmation of our agreement to comply with the Access Guidelines shall be sent to: Scholastic Inc., Attn: Alan Smagler, 557 Broadway, New York, NY 10012, fax # 212-389-3060. We further agree to keep the number of our employees with access to the secure environment to the minimum number necessary for our operation.

We agree to send a blank copy of the Retailer version of this Agreement, as well as a copy of the 2007 Scholastic On-Sale Date Policy and blank copy of the On-Sale Date Policy Contract, to each account who will receive Harry Potter and the Deathly Hallows prior to the On-Sale Date, and shall require them to fill out and return both the Contract and Agreement to us and we will provide Scholastic with a copy of all signed forms by March 30, 2007. Copies of signed forms should be sent to: Helen Boltson, Scholastic Inc., 557 Broadway, 9th Floor, New York, New York 10012, Fax # 212-389-3126. Both forms are available at the Harry Potter Bookseller Desk at: www.scholastic.com/custsupport/booksellers/harrypotter.htm or an email request may be made to hboltson@scholastic.com. In no event will we ship copies of Harry Potter and the Deathly Hallows to any account prior to the On-Sale Date unless and until they have signed and returned to us and to Scholastic both forms. We agree (i) to resell to our accounts only in carton quantities, in Scholastic's original cartons, unless we have Scholastic's prior written approval to resell in less than carton quantities, and (ii) to review our communication and distribution plan with our accounts to insure compliance with the terms of this Agreement.

Scholastic will make available a Book Promotional Style Guide that contains materials and guidelines for the advertising and promotion of Harry Potter and the Deathly Hallows and all related communications. We acknowledge and agree that all communications relating to Harry Potter and the Deathly Hallows (including without limitation advertising and promotional materials, press releases, media alerts and all communications with the media) must comply with the Book Promotional Style Guide and be submitted to Scholastic for prior written approval.

In addition to the consequences which apply to violations of the 2007 Scholastic On-Sale Date Policy, and without limiting Scholastic's rights and remedies, we acknowledge and agree that any store that violates the restrictions found in this Agreement ("Violations") will be subject to the following: (i) the violating store will be liable for any and all attorney's fees and damages, incurred as a result of such Violations, (ii) Scholastic may require that resupply, in whole or in part, to the violating store of Harry Potter and the Deathly Hallows, be withheld, and (iii) Scholastic will require that the distributor not early ship to the violating store any future Harry Potter or other embargoed titles until the corresponding on-sale date. Furthermore, we acknowledge and agree that any such Violation will cause irreparable harm to Scholastic and the author, J.K. Rowling, and that monetary damages will be inadequate to compensate for Violations and that, in addition to any other remedies that may be available, at law, in equity or otherwise, Scholastic and/or J.K. Rowling shall be entitled to obtain injunctive relief, without the necessity of proving actual damages or posting any bond.

In the event one of our accounts commits a Violation, we acknowledge and agree that we may be held jointly liable with the violating account for such Violation and subject to the foregoing.