

How Much Would You Pay to Avoid a California DUI Arrest?

By Thomas Wallin

<http://www.californiaduiblog.com>

Unfortunately, it is not always easy to find someone to serve as a designated driver. Often, the person who says they will stay sober and drive you home ends up drinking too much. Since is never a good idea to get in the car with someone who may be intoxicated, in these cases, it is best to call a cab or friend to pick you up.

But what happens if you plan to drive your own car home but end up having too much to drink? Often, California drivers will convince themselves that they are "ok to drive" to avoid the hassle of finding a ride home and a ride back to retrieve their car the next day. Many of those arrested for California DUI claim that they thought they were safe to drive.

To address this common problem, designated driver services are becoming more available and affordable in California. These services are designed to get both you and your car home safely.

In California, companies like Last Call Sacramento and the Ohio-based Be My Designated Driver, which is expanding throughout California, offer to pick you up and take you home - and bring a second driver to transport your car.

When weighing the costs of a California DUI against the cost of a designated driver service, it seems like a very affordable option

The Law Offices of Thomas Wallin can defend you in your Driving Under the Influence (DUI) case in Southern California. As an experienced, aggressive DUI trial lawyer, Mr. Wallin handles DUI cases in Riverside, San Bernardino, Los Angeles and Orange County. As a DUI criminal defense attorney, Mr. Wallin will represent you at both the DUI criminal proceeding as well as the DUI DMV hearing. In most cases, your DUI lawyer can appear on your behalf in court, saving you time and embarrassment. As a former Riverside County Public Defender attorney, Mr. Wallin is familiar with the DUI courts in Riverside, San Bernardino, Los Angeles and Orange County. Mr. Wallin is also an active member of the National College for DUI Defense and National Association of Criminal Defense Lawyers.