

Minnesota Weighs In On Metadata

Minnesota is the latest state to weigh in on the ethics of metadata. Following the majority, Minnesota's opinion requires lawyers to take steps to protect against transmission of metadata and disclose it's receipt. The Minnesota Lawyers Professional Responsibility Board did not take a position on data mining, finding the issue to be "beyond the scope of the opinion."

Read more about the Minnesota opinion on the ABA LTRC \(Legal Technology Resource Center\) Web site.

Copyright 2010 Beverly Michaelis

Posted in Ethics, Malpractice Avoidance, Technology | Tags: ABA Legal Technology Resource Center, Beverly Michaelis, Ethics, Metadata, Minnesota, Oregon law practice management

Originally published May 4, 2010 at <http://oregonlawpracticemanagement.wordpress.com/2010/05/04/minnesota-weighs-in-on-metadata/>