

Areas of Defense

DUI/DWI

Assault

Drug Possession

Armed Robbery

Murder

Gun Charges

Fraud

Sex Offenses

Conspiracy

Driving Offenses

July 26, 2010

Ex-Washington Redskin Quinton Ganther Arrested for DUI

Just weeks after a DC DUI lawyer successfully defended Washington Redskins cornerback Byron Westbrook against DUI charges, a former Redskin was arrested on suspicion of DUI. Quinton Ganther, who was a running back last season with the Washington Redskins, was arrested around 3:15 a.m. on July 10. He was booked into jail and released on $1,482 bail. The Seahawks, with whom Ganther has been signed, had no comment other than to say, "We are aware of the situation, and in the process of gathering information."

The running back is not the only Seahawks team member to be arrested this off-season. Linebacker Leroy Hill was arrested in April and charged with assault and domestic violence. His trial is set to begin at the end of the month. Safety Kevin Ellison, who was signed by the Seahawks this month, was arrested in May while he was still on the Chargers' roster. Ellison is accused of possession of Vicodin without a valid prescription. The Chargers waived him after the alleged offense, and he was signed with the Seahawks. The Chargers are facing their own DUI woes, suspending receiver Vincent Jackson after his second DUI conviction earlier this year. According to the NFL rumor mill, the Redskins are considering attempting to trade for Jackson.

If Washington picks up Vincent Jackson, he and Byron Westbrook will not be the only two Redskins arrested for alcohol related offenses in 2010. In June, Redskins guard Chad Rinehart was found guilty of public intoxication stemming from a January incident. He was ordered to pay $195 in fines and court fees.

This article is presented by The Law Offices of David Benowitz, a criminal and DUI defense firm serving Maryland, Washington DC, and Virginia. For more information, please visit our Maryland DUI Lawyer blog or Virginia DUI Attorney website.