Great Fun At Misericordia's Family Festival

Posted by Jonathan Rosenfeld on November 19, 2010

This past weekend, I went with my family to the 30th annual Misericordia Family Festival. The weather was beautiful and we had a great time supporting a tremendous organization in the Chicagoland area.

If you are unfamiliar with Misericordia, I suggest you take time to support this unique facility. Situated on beautiful grounds on Chicago's Northside, Misericordia offers customized programs for people with mild, moderate and profound disabilities. Living arrangements include:

- CILAs (Community Integrated Living Arrangements for small groups in neighborhood homes outside Misericordia's main campus)
- On-campus apartments
- Group homes on-campus
- Skilled nursing residence

I can tell you firsthand how important this organization is to disabled children and adults who require emotional and medical support. For several years, my wife worked at Misericordia, during her tenure she exposed me to the dedicated families and staff who make the facility operate day in and day out. Bravo!
