JENNIFER S. LUBINSKI NAMED TO DAILY RECORD'S FIRST ANNUAL LIST OF MARYLAND'S LEADING WOMEN

Baltimore, Maryland, December 8, 2010 — Jennifer S. Lubinski has been named to The Daily Record's first annual list of Maryland's Leading Women.

The Daily Record's list of Leading Women identifies 50 women who are 40 years of age or younger for the tremendous accomplishments they have made so far in their careers. Winners were selected based on their professional experience, community involvement, and commitment to inspiring change.

"Since 1996, The Daily Record has recognized more than 800 high-achieving women who are making an impact in the state with its annual list of Maryland's Top 100 Women," says Daily Record Publisher Suzanne Fischer-Huettner. "With this, our first annual list of Maryland's Leading Women, we now shine the spotlight on the next generation of this state's outstanding women. These are the women who represent Maryland's future and it is our honor to recognize both their accomplishments to date and the promise they hold for the future."

According to Fischer-Huettner, The Daily Record plans to connect the current generation of Maryland's high-achieving women with the next generation. Previous winners of The Daily Record's Top 100 Women and members of the first annual list of Leading Women will be invited to meet several times during the coming year to discuss specific issues of concern to the women and the state.

Funk & Bolton is proud to be represented on the list of Leading Women not once, but twice: Kimberly Y. Robinson, an attorney in the firm's insurance regulation and government relations practices, was also an awardee.

The Daily Record received more than 130 nominations for its first-ever Leading Women list. Nominations were solicited from previous winners of The Daily Record's Top 100 Women, area economic development agencies, women's organizations, chambers of commerce, and the business community at large.

Nominees were asked to complete an application which outlined their educational and career history; examples of mentoring; career-related officer and board memberships in professional, business, or trade organizations; volunteer involvement in civic and nonprofit organizations; awards and honors; professional accomplishments; and commitment to inspiring change in their organization or the community.

A panel of judges comprised of past Top 100 Women winners from across Maryland reviewed all of the Leading Women applications submitted then narrowed the list to the 50 Leading Women who best represent Maryland's future.

Sponsors of The Daily Record's Leading Women include title sponsor Chimes, awards sponsor Kaiser Permanente, leadership sponsor Wachovia, and visionary sponsors PNC and VPC, Inc.

Other sponsors include ACT Personnel Service Inc., Ballard Spahr LLP, Baltimore Community Foundation, Funk & Bolton, PA, Legg Mason, Prince George's Community College, Saul Ewing LLP, Venable LLP, Epsilon Registration, Kramon & Graham P.A., The Maryland Public Policy Institute, United Way of Central Maryland and Whiteford Taylor & Preston LLP.
