The Churn: Lateral Moves and Promotions in The Am Law 200

Posted by Tom Huddleston Jr.

The environmental and natural resources group at Crowell & Moring is now two lawyers stronger, as partner WARREN LEHRENBAUM and senior counsel DAVID MENOTTI join in Washington, D.C. Both lawyers have represented agribusiness, biotechnology, and manufacturing companies. Most recently with Pillsbury Winthrop Shaw Pittman, Lehrenbaum and Menotti will focus on air, pesticides, and chemical regulation issues.

IP attorney JOSEPH LAVELLE has been added as a partner in Dewey & LeBoeuf's Washington, D.C., office. Arriving from Howrey, Lavelle will focus on patent litigation, as well as issues that combine both IP and antitrust law matters.

MICHAEL HARDGROVE is now a partner in the tax practice of DLA Piper. Formerly with PricewaterhouseCoopers, he will be based in Boston and will concentrate on integrated global structuring.

Fox Rothschild has bulked up its entertainment practice group with the addition of LORI LANDEW, who will join as a partner in the firm's corporate department in Philadelphia. Landew advises such media and entertainment clients as Sony Music, Nancy Glass Productions, and Center City Film & Video. She was previously with Cozen O'Connor.

Greenberg Traurig has added two new shareholders to its Chicago office, as GAIL SARACCO and MICHAEL BLAIR arrive from Mayer Brown. Both attorneys will be part of the firm's corporate and securities practice. Saracco advises on private investment funds, M&A, and joint venture transactions. Blair represents clients on M&A, divestiture, and financing transaction issues.

Finally . . . Orrick, Herrington & Sutcliffe announced the arrival of PHILIPP WINDEMUTH as a corporate partner. He will work out of the firm's Moscow and Berlin offices, specializing in foreign investment projects in the Russian Federation to strengthen the firm's German-Russian cross-border practice.
