

Israel Connect

Legal Insight for Success in the US Market

WINTER 2016

We are excited to present you with the second issue of Israel Connect — our quarterly newsletter focused on forging new connections and strengthening existing bonds between Israeli businesses and the US market. In our second issue, we explore an array of topics covering areas ranging from antitrust compliance in the face of technological advances to the zeitgeist of Mintz Levin, i.e., what differentiates us as a firm, and differentiates our Israel Practice, from the legal pack.

We hope you enjoy this issue of Israel Connect, and we look forward to the prospect of offering you greater opportunities to “Connect” throughout the upcoming year. We are here to respond to your needs. For assistance, please contact Karen Sealine in Tel Aviv at 972.54.4706614.

Zimperium

Zimperium is an enterprise mobile security system offering organizations complete mobile security against cyberattacks around the clock. With teams in more than eight countries, the company has built an award-winning solution to protect mobile devices from cyberattacks before they happen. Founded in 2010, Zimperium is headquartered in San Francisco and has offices in Dallas and Tel Aviv. The management team includes CEO, Shridhar Mittal and founder, chairman and CTO, Zuk Avraham. Zimperium is backed by major investors including Samsung, Telstra and Sierra Ventures and has raised approximately $20 million in funding to date.

Zimperium is making big waves in the enterprise mobile security industry. Over the past six years, Zimperium has disrupted the mobile ecosystem by discovering multiple mobile vulnerabilities, including the highly publicized, Stagefright vulnerability last July. Stagefright impacts nearly every Android user and has dramatically shifted the way the Android community has approached security, including an acceleration of patches released by Google and network carriers. Zimperium's mission is to completely secure hyper-connected businesses against the next generation of advanced mobile attacks.

Zimperium's Vice President of Research, Joshua Drake, was recently named among the top 6 influential security thinkers by SC Magazine.

We are advising Zimperium on US immigration and visa matters.

Is Your App Antitrust Compatible?

As developers and technology gurus continue to develop Apps for just about everything, companies that use Apps to market products to American consumers must be careful to comply with US antitrust laws and regulations designed to prohibit anticompetitive behavior. In this article, Mintz Levin Member Dionne Lomax looks at how “tying” — the conditioning of a sale of one product on a buyer’s agreement to buy another — can raise antitrust issues for companies using Apps to market insurance products, and considers what App providers should do to avoid violating US antitrust laws and incurring significant penalties.

FDA Legal and Regulatory — 2015 Year in Review

Looking back on 2015, it's apparent that this was another very busy year for the US Food and Drug Administration (FDA), whose oversight responsibilities are estimated to touch 25% of American consumers' spending on various regulated products. This post highlights some of the FDA's significant actions in 2015 and provides thoughts about what 2016 may bring for FDA-regulated entities.

What Questions Executives Should Be Asking About Their D&O Insurance Under the New DOJ Policies

In September, the US Justice Department issued new policies that place individual executives at the center of their prosecution efforts and encourage companies to cooperate in building cases against those individuals. In this post, authors Heidi Lawson and Jacquelyn Burke discuss D&O insurance solutions and the kind of coverage you need to have.
