Law360 Immigration Editorial Advisory Board

Law360, New York (February 26, 2016, 7:14 PM ET) -- Law360 is pleased to announce the formation of its 2016 immigration editorial advisory board.

The purpose of the editorial advisory board is to get feedback on Law360's coverage and to gain insight from experts in the field on how best to shape future coverage.

The members of the 2016 Immigration Law360 editorial advisory board are:

Avram Morell, Pryor Cashman LLP

Avram E. Morell is a partner at the New York City offices of Pryor Cashman. He represents employers and individuals in many aspects of immigration law. A frequent lecturer and writer, Morell also represents the immigration bar in liaising with the government on matters of immigration policy.

Jeffrey Bell, Polsinelli PC

Jeffrey Bell is a shareholder at Polsinelli and is chair of the firm's national Immigration Practice. For almost 25 years Bell has crafted practical and effective strategies for U.S. and multinational clients facing complex immigration issues. He has a particular focus advising health care organizations on immigration visa and compliance matters.

Dan Berger, Curran & Berger LLP

Dan Berger is a partner at the law firm of Curran & Berger in Northampton, Massachusetts, and a frequent speaker and writer on immigration law. Berger is an honorary member of the American Academy of Adoption Attorneys, on the travel subcommittee of the National Association of Foreign Student Advisers, and a founding member of the American Alliance of International Entrepreneurs. He has been quoted in various media including the Atlantic Magazine and the Huffington Post. Berger developed his interest in immigration in college, where he studied immigration history and taught English adult refugees.

Beth Carlson, Faegre Baker Daniels

Beth E. Carlson is counsel in the Minneapolis office of Faegre Baker Daniels. Carlson's practice focuses on employment-based immigration and she leads the health care immigration practice. Her clients stretch across numerous industries, including health care, food and agriculture, manufacturing, retail, engineering, and information services and technology.

Ellen Freeman, K&L Gates LLP

Ellen Freeman is a partner at K&L Gates' Pittsburgh office. She has practiced for over 16 years in all aspects of employment-based immigration. Freeman supports clients through all steps of operating business in the United States. Freeman's practice focuses on employment-based immigration for scientists, researchers and medical professionals, primarily in the areas of biotech, health care and education. She also advises start-up and foreign companies and investors in corporate entity formation and the establishment of U.S. operations. She serves on the AILA Global Migration Steering Committee. Freeman has been appointed to the Welcoming Pittsburgh Advisory Council. An active AILA member, Freeman frequently speaks at national and international conferences. She attended law school at the University of Pittsburgh and possesses a master's in Russian Language and Literature from Odessa National University and a master's in Public and International Affairs with a concentration in International Corporate Environments from the University of Pittsburgh.

Poonam Gupta, White & Case LLP

Poonam Gupta's practice focuses on all aspects of business-related immigrant and non-immigrants visas and proceedings before the Department of Homeland Security, Department of State and Department of Labor. She also advises on family based immigration matters and admissibility issues. She provides advice and training on DOL compliance, E-Verify, Form I-9 compliance, maintenance, audits, and corrective measures to mitigate fines.

Daniel M. Kowalski, The Fowler Law Firm PC

A native of Denver, Daniel Kowalski has been practicing immigration law exclusively since 1985. He is the editor-in-chief of Bender's Immigration Bulletin, published by LexisNexis, and the online editor of the LexisNexis Immigration Law Community, aka BIB Daily. In 2010, Kowalski was named a senior fellow at the Institute for Justice Journalism. He is a member of IMMLAW, the National Consortium of Immigration Law Firms.
