

Perseverance

Perseverance. Defined by Dictionary.com, it means “steady persistence in a course of action, a purpose, a state, etc., esp. in spite of difficulties, obstacles, or discouragement.” In theology, it means “continuance in a state of grace to the end, leading to eternal salvation.” In life, it means that when the going gets tough, you keep on going.

When you need an Arizona criminal defense attorney, chances are that you’ve made some sort of slip-up in your life. It could be an assault and battery charge, a DUI charge, or embezzlement – it could be anything, but regardless of what you’ve done, your mistake does not have to define the rest of your life. There are options. There is a way out, and there is a solution waiting for you.

Perseverance comes into play when you have so many obstacles stacked up against you, an action as simple as getting up in the morning seems close to impossible. It is what you need when you’re faced with a criminal charge, jail time, or the potential uprooting of the way you live your life. This quality is priceless. It is what will allow you to keep on going, to make the changes you need to make, and to become a better person overall.

Sometimes we need to make big mistakes to show us just how strong we really are. Just because you’re faced with an obstacle, does not mean you are out of options. In times like these, you don’t just want to get out of a sticky situation and move on with your life; you want to get out of that situation with the tools you need to make sure that the mistake you made does not happen again. Perseverance is actualized in different ways since every person is different. For some people, it may be the knowledge that they have friends and family depending on them; for others, it is the idea that they can become a better person by recognizing their fault. For a lot of people, perseverance is fueled by a combination of these factors, alongside the willingness to try again.

A second chance. That’s what perseverance really boils down to: providing yourself with a second chance. In the end, your Arizona criminal defense attorney can only do so much. He or she can help dismiss your case or reduce the charges, but you are the one who needs to, as Ghandi said, be the change you want to see in the world.
