Pennsylvania Tax Amnesty 2017

This article is not intended to provide tax advice or create an attorney client relationship. The Commonwealth of Pennsylvania has recently announced its tax amnesty program for 2017. The tax amnesty program is open to business and individuals with Pennsylvania Tax delinquencies as of December 31, 2015.

Benefit. To participate, taxpayers must file an online Amnesty Return, file all delinquent tax returns and make the required payment within the Amnesty Period. All penalties, collection and lien fees and one-half of the interest due will be waived. There are also specific Amnesty provisions for individuals or corporations that have not registered with the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Notification. A participating taxpayer must disclose and pay all delinquent taxes and one-half of the applicable interest. Payment for the entire liability and filing of all delinquent tax returns must not be received electronically or postmarked prior to the beginning of the Amnesty Period or after the close of the Amnesty Program. Payment is considered timely if received electronically or postmarked on or before June 19, 2017.
