

1 GOETZ FITZPATRICK LLP
2 RONALD D. COLEMAN
3 rcoleman@goetzfitz.com
4 One Penn Plaza, Suite 4401
5 New York, NY 10119
6 Telephone: 212.695.8100
7 Facsimile: 212.629.4013

8 Counsel for Defendants
9 JOHN PATRICK FREY AND
10 CHRISTI FREY

11 BROWN WHITE & NEWHOUSE LLP
12 KENNETH P. WHITE (Bar No. 238052)
13 kwhite@brownwhitelaw.com
14 333 South Hope Street, 40th Floor
15 Los Angeles, CA 90071-1406
16 Telephone: 213.613.0500
17 Facsimile: 213.613.0550

18 Local Counsel for Defendants
19 JOHN PATRICK FREY AND
20 CHRISTI FREY

21 UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
22 CENTRAL DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA

23 NADIA NAFFE, an individual,
24 Plaintiff,

25 v.

26 JOHN PATRICK FREY, an individual,
27 CHRISTI FREY, an individual, STEVE
28 M. COOLEY, an individual, and the COUNTY OF LOS ANGELES, a municipal entity,

Defendants.

Case No.: CV12-08443-GW (MRWx)

Judge: Hon. George H. Wu

DEFENDANTS JOHN PATRICK
FREY AND CHRISTI FREY'S
NOTICE OF MOTION AND MOTION TO STRIKE THE SECOND THROUGH SIXTH
CAUSES OF ACTION OF THE COMPLAINT PURSUANT TO
CALIFORNIA'S ANTI-SLAPP
LAW, CALIFORNIA CODE OF CIVIL PROCEDURE § 425.16

Hearing Date: December 10, 2012

Time: 8:30 a.m.

Courtroom: 10

Complaint Filed: October 2, 2012

1 TO ALL PARTIES AND THEIR ATTORNEYS OF RECORD:

2 PLEASE TAKE NOTICE that on December 10, 2012, at 8:30 a.m. in

3 Courtroom 10 in the United States Courthouse located at 312 N. Spring Street, Los 4 Angeles, California 90012, the Honorable George H. Wu presiding, Defendants John
5 Patrick Frey and Christi Frey (“Defendants”) will move pursuant to California Code
6 of Civil Procedure § 425.16 to strike the Second, Third, Fourth, Fifth and Sixth
7 Causes of Action of Plaintiff Nadia Naffe’s (“Plaintiff”) Complaint on the following 8 grounds:

- 9 1. The conduct complained of in the Second through Sixth Causes of Action
- 10 is protected expression as defined by Code Civ. Proc., § 425.16, subd.
- 11 (b)(1)); and
- 12 2. Plaintiff cannot show a likelihood of prevailing on any of those causes of
- 13 action based on the facts she pleads and in light of the applicable law,
- 14 including Defendants’ rights under the First Amendment to the United
- 15 States Constitution.

16 This Motion is based on this Notice of Motion and attached Memorandum of 17 Points and Authorities, on all judicially noticeable documents, on all pleadings and 18 papers on file in this action, and on other such matters and arguments as may be 19 presented to this Court in connection with this Motion.

20 This Motion is made following the telephonic conference of counsel which took 21 place on October 26, 2012.

22 DATED: November 12, 2012

Respectfully submitted,

23 GOETZ FITZPATRICK LLP

24 By s/Ronald D. Coleman

25 RONALD D. COLEMAN
26 Counsel for Defendants
27 JOHN PATRICK FREY AND
28 CHRISTI FREY

BROWN, WHITE & NEWHOUSE
ATTORNEYS

1
2
3
4
5
6
7
8
9
10
11
12
13
14
15
16
17
18
19
20
21
22
23
24
25
26
27
28

DATED: November 12, 2012

Respectfully submitted,

BROWN WHITE & NEWHOUSE LLP

By s/Kenneth P. White

KENNETH P. WHITE
Local Counsel for Defendants
JOHN PATRICK FREY AND
CHRISTI FREY

TABLE OF CONTENTS

1
2
3
4
5
6
7
8
9
10
11
12
13
14
15
16
17
18
19
20
21
22
23
24
25
26
27
28

Page

I. INTRODUCTION 1

II. SUMMARY OF PLAINTIFF’S ALLEGATIONS.....2

 A. Mr. Frey Publishes a Blog in his Personal Capacity2

 B. Plaintiff Engaged in Public Debate about her Claims Against a Public Figure2

 C. Mr. Frey Wrote About Plaintiff’s Public Comments On The Blog, and Plaintiff Responded Publicly3

 D. Plaintiff Makes Only Conclusory Allegations About Mrs. Frey4

 E. Plaintiff Files Suit5

III. ARGUMENT6

 A. CALIFORNIA’S ANTI-SLAPP LAW PROTECTS DEFENDANTS FROM PLAINTIFF’S CENSORIOUS AND FRIVOLOUS COMPLAINT6

 B. THE CONDUCT CITED IN THE COMPLAINT IS PROTECTED EXPRESSION, TRIGGERING THE ANTI-SLAPP STATUTE7

 C. PLAINTIFF CANNOT DEMONSTRATE A PROBABILITY THAT SHE WILL PREVAIL ON HER STATE LAW CAUSES OF ACTION.....9

 1. Plaintiff Cannot Prevail Against Mrs. Frey Because She Alleges No Facts About Mrs. Frey 10

 2. Plaintiff’s Public Disclosure Invasion of Privacy Claim Cannot Succeed Because the Material Posted was Already Public 10

 3. Plaintiff’s Defamation Claim Fails Because it Targets Constitutionally Protected Hyperbole and Opinion 13

 4. Plaintiff’s Claim of False Light Invasion of Privacy Cannot Succeed Because it is Derivative of Her Defamation Claim..... 15

 Therefore Plaintiff cannot demonstrate that she will prevail on her Third Cause of Action for False Light Invasion of Privacy. 16

 5. Plaintiff Cannot Prevail On Her Claim For Intentional Infliction of Emotional Distress 16

 6. Plaintiff Cannot Prevail on Her Negligence Claim 17

 D. MR. FREY IS ENTITLED TO AN AWARD OF REASONABLE ATTORNEY FEES FOR MAKING A SUCCESSFUL SPECIAL MOTION TO STRIKE.....20

IV. CONCLUSION.....20

TABLE OF AUTHORITIES

1
2
3
4
5
6
7
8
9
10
11
12
13
14
15
16
17
18
19
20
21
22
23
24
25
26
27
28

Page

Cases

Accord, Long v. U.S. Dept. of Justice,
450 F.Supp.2d 42 (D.D.C.) 12

American Civil Liberties Union v. U.S. Dept. of Justice,
655 F.3d 1, 7 (D.C. Cir. 2011) 11

American Humane Ass'n v. Los Angeles Times Communications,
(2001) 92 Cal.App.4th 1095 20

Beilenson v. Superior Court,
44 Cal.App.4th 944 (1996) 14

Brill Media Co., LLC v. TCW Group, Inc.,
132 Cal.App.4th 324 (2005) 7

California Civil Code § 1798.85 18, 19

Cannon v. City of Petaluma,
2011 WL 3267714 (N.D. Cal. 2011) 15

Chaker v. Mateo,
209 Cal.App.4th 1138 (2012) 14

Cooney v. Chicago Public Schools,
(Ill. App. Ct.) 407 Ill.App.3d 358, appeal denied, (Ill. 2011) 949 N.E.2d 65 12

Cross v. Cooper,
197 Cal.App.4th 357 (2011) 8

Crusader Ins. Co. v. Scottsdale Ins. Co.,
62 Cal. Rptr. 2d 620 (Cal. Ct. App. 1997) 19

Flores v. Von Kleist, 739 F.Supp.2d 1236 (2010) 15

Gilbert v. Sykes,
147 Cal.App.4th 13 (2007) 7

Governor Gray Davis Committee v. American Taxpayers Alliance,
102 Cal.App.4th 449 (2002) 7

Hall v. Time Warner, Inc.,
153 Cal.App.4th 1337 (2007) 8

Hilton v. Hallmark Cards,
599 F.3d 894 (9th Cir. 2010)..... 7

Hughes v. Pair,
46 Cal.4th 1035 (2009) 16

BROWN, WHITE & NEWHOUSE
ATTORNEYS

TABLE OF AUTHORITIES

	Page
1
2
3 In re Killian
4 (Bankr. D.S.C., July 23, 2009, C/A 05-14629-HB) 2009 WL 2927950	12
5 Information Control v. Genesis One Computer Corp. ,
6 611 F.2d 781 (9th Cir.1980)	14
7 Kashian v. Harriman ,
8 98 Cal. App. 4th 892 (2002)	9
9 Lam v. Ngo ,
10 91 Cal.App.4 th 832 (2001)	17
11 Level 3 Communications, LLC v. Limelight Networks, Inc. ,
12 611 F.Supp.2d 572 (E.D. Va. 2009)	13
13 Longview Fibre Co. v. Rasmussen ,
14 980 F.2d 1307 (9th Cir. 1992)	20
15 Martinez v. Metabolife Intern., Inc. 113 Cal.App.4th 181 (2003).....	8
16 Massey Coal Services, Inc. v. Victaulic Co. of America ,
17 249 F.R.D. 477 (S.D.W. Va. 2008).....	12
18 Milkovich v. Lorain Journal Co. ,
19 497 U.S. 1 (1990).....	13
20 Moreno v. Hanford Sentinel, Inc. ,
21 172 Cal.App.4th 1125 (2009)	11
22 Morningstar, Inc. v. Superior Court ,
23 23 Cal.App.4th 676 (1994)	14
24 New Net, Inc. v. Lavasoft ,
25 356 F.Supp.2d 1090 (C.D.Cal.2004)	6
26 Nicosia v. De Rooy ,
27 72 F.Supp.2d 1093 (N.D. Cal. 1999)	14
28 Premier Med. Mgmt. Systems, Inc. v. California Ins. Guar. Ass'n ,
136 Cal.App.4th 464 (2006)	7
Quelimane Co. v. Stewart Title Guaranty Co. ,
19 Cal.4th 26 (1998)	18
Rosenauer v. Scherer ,
88 Cal.App.4 th 260 (2001)	14
Rosenfeld v. U.S. Dept. of Justice ,
(N.D. Cal., Mar. 5, 2012, C-07-3240 EMC) 2012 WL 710186	11
Russello v. United States ,
464 U.S. 16 (1983).....	20

1
2
3
4
5
6
7
8
9
10
11
12
13
14
15
16
17
18
19
20
21
22
23
24
25
26
27
28

TABLE OF AUTHORITIES

Page

Satey v. JPMorgan Chase & Co.,
521 F.3d 1087 (9th Cir. 2008) 20

Savaglio v. Wal-Mart Stores, Inc.,
149 Cal.App.4th 588 (2007) 13

Snyder v. Phelps,
131 S.Ct. 1207 (2011)..... 17

Spinks v. Equity Residential Briarwood Apartments,
171 Cal.App.4th 1004 (2009) 19

Standing Commission on Discipline v. Yagman,
55 F.3d 1430 (9th Cir. 1995)..... 14

Stewart v. Rolling Stone LLC,
181 Cal. App. 4th 664 (2010) 8

United States v. BestFoods,
524 U.S. 51 (1998)..... 19

United States v. Cassidy,
814 F.Supp.2d 574 (D. Md. 2011)..... 2

Vikco Ins. Servs., Inc. v. Ohio Indem. Co.,
82 Cal. Rptr. 2d 442 (Cal. Ct. App. 1999) 19

Statutes

42 U.S.C. § 1983 5

Cal.Civ.Proc.Code § 425.16(b)(1) 6

Code Civ. Proc. § 425.16, subd. (c) 20

Code Civ. Proc., § 425.16, subd. (b)(1) ii, 7

Code Civ. Proc., § 425.16, subd. (e) 8

BROWN, WHITE & NEWHOUSE
ATTORNEYS

1 MEMORANDUM OF POINTS AND AUTHORITIES

2 I.

3 INTRODUCTION

4 Plaintiff Nadia Naffe has filed a Complaint cynically calculated to punish
5 Defendant John Patrick Frey for his speech on a matter of public interest. Plaintiff's
6 own Complaint shows that she chose to enter into a public forum on a matter of public
7 interest, deliberately publicizing and arguing her claims of misconduct against a
8 controversial and popular conservative journalist. When Mr. Frey disagreed with her
9 and criticized her in that online forum, she responded in kind. But now, rather than 10 rely on the power of speech to persuade, Plaintiff attempts to invoke this Court's 11 power in order to suppress and retaliate against protected speech she doesn't like. Not 12 only has she sued Mr. Frey for his protected expression, she has sued his wife Christi
13 Frey without articulating a single relevant allegation against her.

14 In their concurrently filed Motion to Dismiss, Defendants establish that 15 Plaintiff's § 1983 cause of action is vexatious and utterly without merit, relying upon 16 unsupported conclusory claims to assert the ridiculous proposition that Mr. Frey, by 17 writing a political blog in his private capacity, was acting under color of state law. In 18 this Motion, Defendants establish that the Court should dismiss the remainder of 19 Plaintiff's frivolous claims against them under California's anti-SLAPP statute, 20 California Code of Civil Procedure § 425.16. Defendants are entitled to relief under 21 the anti-SLAPP statute because, as demonstrated below, they can easily meet its 22 familiar two-part test: (1) the Second through Sixth Causes of action attack protected
23 speech—namely, speech regarding a subject of public interest—and (2) Plaintiff cannot 24 possibly prevail on those causes of action.

25 Therefore, the Court should strike the Second through Sixth Causes of Action
26 and award Defendants their fees and costs under the anti-SLAPP statute.

BROWN, WHITE & NEWHOUSE
ATTORNEYS

1 II.

2 SUMMARY OF PLAINTIFF'S ALLEGATIONS¹

3 A. MR. FREY PUBLISHES A BLOG IN HIS PERSONAL CAPACITY

4 Mr. Frey and Mrs. Frey, husband and wife, are employed as Deputy District
5 Attorneys for Los Angeles County. (¶¶ 4-5.) Mr. Frey also publishes a popular blog²
6 called "Patterico's Pontifications" ("the Blog") and maintains a Twitter account³
7 under the user name @patterico. (¶ 23.) While the fact is self evident, the Blog
8 explicitly informs readers that the statements therein are "personal opinions . . . not 9 made in any official capacity." (¶ 38.) Indeed, Plaintiff does not allege that Mr. Frey
10 identifies himself by his position, or even by name, on the Blog.

11 B. PLAINTIFF ENGAGED IN PUBLIC DEBATE ABOUT HER CLAIMS
12 AGAINST A PUBLIC FIGURE

13 Plaintiff is a former friend and colleague of James O'Keefe, a conservative
14 activist specializing in undercover "sting" videos. Plaintiff alleges that Mr. and Mrs.
15 Frey are among the friends and admirers of her ex-friend. Mr. O'Keefe is vilified by 16 "mainstream press" and political activists who do not share his viewpoints, but 17 admired by others, particularly among conservatives. (¶¶ 12, 18.)

18
19 ¹ All references to paragraph numbers herein are to the Complaint.

20 ² United States v. Cassidy, 814 F.Supp.2d 574, 576 (D. Md. 2011) defined a "blog" as 21 follows:

22 A "Blog" is a shorthand term for a "web log," i.e. a log or web page maintained on the 23 World Wide Web. A Blog is like a bulletin board and contains whatever material its sponsor 24 decides to post. It does not send messages, and there is no limitation on the length of statements that may be contained on a Blog. Like a bulletin board, it does not communicate except to those who voluntarily choose to read what is posted on it.

25 ³ The Cassidy Court explained:

26 "Twitter" is a "real-time information network that connects" users to the "latest information
27 about what you find interesting. . . . At the heart of Twitter are small bursts of information called Tweets. Each Tweet is 140 characters in length. . . ." Twitter users may choose to 28 "follow" other users. If user No. 1 decides to "follow" user No. 2, Twitter messages (Tweets) posted by user No. 2 will show up on the home page of user No. 1 where they can be read.
814 F.Supp.2d at 576.

1 Plaintiff explains her estrangement from Mr. O’Keefe by alleging that, in the 2 Fall of 2011, he drugged her and attempted to sexually assault her after she rejected
3 his romantic overtures. She describes these alleged events as the “Barn Incident.” (¶
4 15.) Plaintiff further asserts that Mr. O’Keefe posted a “harassing, degrading, public
5 video” about her on YouTube, and that she responded by filing a criminal harassment
6 complaint against Mr. O’Keefe, which was ultimately dismissed for lack of 7 jurisdiction. (¶ 16.) In February 2012, the late conservative media figure Andrew
8 Breitbart spoke with a reporter about the Barn Incident. While not explaining how 9 this conversation came to her attention, plaintiff took to her personal blog and Twitter
10 to “publicly challenge[]” what she characterizes as Breitbart’s “misconceptions”
11 concerning the Barn Incident. (¶ 17.)

12 C. MR. FREY WROTE ABOUT PLAINTIFF’S PUBLIC COMMENTS ON 13 THE BLOG, AND PLAINTIFF RESPONDED PUBLICLY

14 Mr. Frey used his “Patterico” persona to write about the controversy involving 15 Mr. O’Keefe, Plaintiff, and the Barn Incident on the Blog. (¶ 24.) In particular, 16 Plaintiff alleges:

- 17 • That Mr. Frey posted eight separate articles about her on the Blog and 18 participated in comment threads (Id.)
- 19 • That Mr. Frey posted several dozen “threatening, harassing, and defamatory
20 statements” concerning Plaintiff on his Twitter account describing her as “a liar,
21 illiterate, callous, self-absorbed, despicable, a smear artist, and absurd” (Id.);
- 22 • That in his Twitter posts Mr. Frey asked the rhetorical question “why did 23 PLAINTIFF not call a cab to escape the barn during the Barn Incident,” and 24 claimed that he was “poking holes” in plaintiff’s criminal complaint against Mr.
25 O’Keefe (Id.);
- 26 • That Mr. Frey published portions of the transcript of a hearing on Plaintiff’s 27 criminal harassment suit “in a manner that was deliberately out-of-context” (¶ 28 26.)

BROWN, WHITE & NEWHOUSE
ATTORNEYS

- 1 • That Mr. Frey criticized a journalist for failing to vet Plaintiff before publishing
- 2 an article about the Barn Incident and her subsequent lawsuit, and made a list of
- 3 questions the journalist should have asked (¶ 27);
- 4 • That by publishing the 29 questions on the Blog that he believed the journalist
- 5 should have asked plaintiff, Mr. Frey intended “to provide O’KEEFE with legal
- 6 ammunition to fight PLAINTIFF’s criminal harassment lawsuit, and so
- 7 constituted the giving of legal advice” (Id.).

8 Plaintiff responded by posting a series of articles on her own blog about the

9 Barn Incident as well as about her claim that Mr. O’Keefe had “wire tapped” the 10 offices of U.S. Representative Maxine Waters. (¶ 28.) Mr. Frey, in turn, published to 11 the Blog public documents allegedly related to a civil suit that Mr. O’Keefe had filed

12 against Plaintiff. (¶ 29.) In response, Plaintiff threatened on Twitter that she would

13 “report” this conduct by Mr. Frey to the District Attorney’s Office and the California

14 State Bar. (Id. at ¶ 30.) Mr. Frey then published over 200 pages of a 2005 deposition

15 transcript from a civil suit between Plaintiff and her former employer that had been

16 publicly filed on PACER. (¶¶ 31, 69.) The deposition transcript included Plaintiff’s

17 Social Security number, date of birth, maiden name, family address, and personal

18 medical information. (¶ 31.) Mr. Frey later removed the transcript from the Blog,

19 though Plaintiff asserts that the transcript remained available in an “Internet web

20 cache” for weeks or months thereafter. (¶ 33.) Plaintiff claims that she received alerts

21 from a credit agency that “people had made changes to her credit report” and that

22 “individuals are fraudulently using her Social Security number.” (¶ 34.)

23 D. PLAINTIFF MAKES ONLY CONCLUSORY ALLEGATIONS ABOUT

24 MRS. FREY

25 Plaintiff asserts that Mr. Frey published the complained-of items to the Blog in 26 order to “intimidate her into not handing over evidence to the County regarding MR.

27 FREY’s personal friend Mr. O’KEEFE’s wiretapping of Congresswoman Waters” and

28 to “protect the reputation of his personal friends, Mr. O’KEEFE and Mr. Breitbart.”

1 (¶ 36.) As to defendant Christi Frey, Plaintiff alleges no facts to justify naming her in
2 this action, alleging merely that, like her husband, she is a Deputy District Attorney (¶
3 5) and that “upon information and belief” she is an admirer of Mr. O’Keefe. (¶ 12.)
4 Plaintiff leaps from these irrelevant allegations, one solely speculative, to the 5 unsupportable conclusion that Mrs. Frey “was an active participant and contributor to 6 the defamatory and harassing activity” (¶ 36) and that she and Mr. Frey “formed a 7 conspiracy to work together in engaging in the wrongful conduct directed towards
8 PLAINTIFF.” (¶ 10.)

9 E. PLAINTIFF FILES SUIT

10 Plaintiff sued Mr. Frey, Mrs. Frey, the County, and Mr. Cooley in this action.
11 Her first six causes of action are against all parties and all but the first are the subject
12 of this Motion; in her First Cause of Action, Plaintiff asserts that Mr. and Mrs. Frey
13 violated her civil rights in violation of 42 U.S.C. § 1983, the subject of Defendants’
14 concurrently filed Motion to Dismiss and not at issue in this Motion. Plaintiff’s
15 Seventh Cause of Action is not at issue in this Motion; it is against Mr. Cooley and the 16 County for negligent supervision.

17 The Second Cause of Action asserts a claim for “Public Disclosure Invasion of 18 Privacy” based on Mr. Frey’s republication of the deposition transcript originally 19 published on PACER in Plaintiff’s lawsuit with her former employer. (¶ 50.)

20 The Third Cause of Action asserts a claim for “False Light Invasion of Privacy”
21 for “painting PLAINTIFF as a liar, as dishonest, as self-absorbed, and by relentlessly
22 asking everyone who would listen why PLAINTIFF failed to call a cab during the 23 barn incident.” (¶ 55.)

24 Plaintiff’s Fourth Cause of Action asserts a claim for defamation based on the 25 following specific statements: that Plaintiff is a “liar whose lies will be exposed,” and 26 that Plaintiff “is full of false allegations.” (¶ 60.)

27 The Fifth Cause of Action asserts a claim for intentional infliction of emotional
28 distress based on Mr. Frey’s expression on the Blog and Twitter. (¶ 65.)

1 The Sixth Cause of Action asserts a claim for negligence based on Mr. Frey’s
2 republication of Plaintiff’s already-published deposition transcript with her Social
3 Security number. (Id. at ¶ 69.)

4 III.
5 ARGUMENT

6 This Court should strike Plaintiff’s Second through Sixth Causes of Action under 7 California’s anti-SLAPP statute because they complain of conduct arising from 8 protected expression and because Plaintiff is unlikely to prevail on them.

9 A. CALIFORNIA’S ANTI-SLAPP LAW PROTECTS DEFENDANTS
10 FROM PLAINTIFF’S CENSORIOUS AND FRIVOLOUS COMPLAINT

11 In Price v. Stossel, 620 F.3d 992 (2010), the Ninth Circuit explained the policy
12 and legal principles underlying the anti-SLAPP law of this State, as well as its 13 application in the federal courts with respect to state-law claims:

14 California’s anti-SLAPP statute permits courts at an early stage to dismiss
15 meritless defamation cases aimed at chilling expression through costly, time-
16 consuming litigation. The statute was passed in 1993 in response to the 17 legislature’s concern that strategic defamation lawsuits were deterring citizens
18 from exercising their political and legal rights. We have repeatedly held that 19 California’s anti-SLAPP statute can be invoked by defendants who are in 20 federal court on the basis of diversity jurisdiction. The hallmark of a SLAPP 21 suit is that it lacks merit, and [that it] is brought with the goals of obtaining an 22 economic advantage over a citizen party by increasing the cost of litigation to the point that the citizen party’s case will be weakened or abandoned. The anti-SLAPP statute attempts to counteract the chilling effect of strategic suits by providing that such suits should be dismissed under a special “motion to strike.” Cal.Civ.Proc.Code § 425.16(b)(1).

23 620 F.3d at 999 (internal quotations and citations omitted). See also New Net, Inc. v.
24 Lavasoft, 356 F.Supp.2d 1090, 1099 (C.D.Cal.2004) (in federal question case, anti-25 SLAPP motion properly directed only to pendant state law claims).

26 Under California law and federal cases construing it, this Court undertakes a
27 two-step analysis when considering Mr. Frey’s anti-SLAPP motion. First, Mr. Frey 28 has the burden of making a prima facie showing that the state-law causes of action are

BROWN, WHITE & NEWHOUSE
ATTORNEYS

1 premised on protected expression as defined by the anti-SLAPP statute. Code Civ.
2 Proc., § 425.16, subd. (b)(1)); see also, Governor Gray Davis Committee v. American
3 Taxpayers Alliance, 102 Cal.App.4th 449, 458-59 (2002); Hilton v. Hallmark Cards,
4 599 F.3d 894, 903 (9th Cir. 2010) (applying the two-step analysis to anti-SLAPP
5 motion brought in federal court). The Court makes that determination upon 6 consideration of the pleadings, declarations and, if appropriate, matters that may be
7 judicially noticed. Brill Media Co., LLC v. TCW Group, Inc., 132 Cal.App.4th 324, 8 329 (2005).

9 If Mr. Frey makes this showing—which, as set out below, he can do readily—
10 the burden shifts to Plaintiff to show that even though the expression is prima facie
11 protected expression, she nonetheless is more likely than not to prevail on her claims
12 based on both the applicable law and “a sufficient prima facie showing of facts.”
13 Premier Med. Mgmt. Systems, Inc. v. California Ins. Guar. Ass'n 136 Cal.App.4th
14 464, 476 (2006); Code Civ. Proc., § 425.16, subd. (b)(1)). Plaintiff must carry this 15 burden with “competent and admissible evidence.” Price v. Stossel, 590 F.Supp.2d 16 1262, 1266 (C.D. Cal. 2008). “The plaintiff’s burden resembles the burden he would 17 have in fending off a motion for summary judgment or directed verdict.” Gilbert v.
18 Sykes, 147 Cal.App.4th 13, 53 (2007). In the highly likely event that Plaintiff’s
19 subsequent submissions fail to meet this burden, the Court must strike the Complaint
20 and award Mr. Frey attorneys’ fees and costs.

21 THE CONDUCT CITED IN THE COMPLAINT IS PROTECTED
22 EXPRESSION, TRIGGERING THE ANTI-SLAPP STATUTE

23 Defendants easily satisfy the first prong of the anti-SLAPP test based on the 24 face of the Complaint. The California Code of Civil Procedure defines the conduct
25 protected under the anti-SLAPP law as follows:

- 26 (1) any written or oral statement or writing made before a legislative, executive,
27 or judicial proceeding, or any other official proceeding authorized by law; (2) 28 any written or oral statement or writing made in connection with an issue under consideration or review by a legislative, executive, or judicial body, or any

1 other official proceeding authorized by law; (3) any written or oral statement or 2 writing made in a place open to the public or a public forum in connection with 3 an issue of public interest; (4) or any other conduct in furtherance of the 4 exercise of the constitutional right of petition or the constitutional right of free speech in connection with a public issue or an issue of public interest.

5 Code Civ. Proc., § 425.16, subd. (e). It does not matter what guise or cause of action
6 Plaintiff uses to attack the protected expression: if the factual conduct described in the 7 Complaint falls into one of these categories, it triggers the anti-SLAPP statute.

8 Martinez v. Metabolife Intern., Inc. 113 Cal.App.4th 181, 187 (2003) (“a plaintiff
9 cannot avoid operation of the anti-SLAPP statute by attempting, through artifices of 10 pleading, to characterize an action as a ‘garden variety breach of contract [or] fraud
11 claim’ when in fact the liability claim is based on protected speech or conduct.”)

12 In fact, the conduct described in the Complaint is on its face protected as speech
13 made “in connection with a public issue or an issue of public interest” which triggers
14 the anti-SLAPP statute because the legal claims against Mr. Frey (and, to the extent 15 she is named in conclusory fashion as a conspirator, Mrs. Frey) are explicitly based 16 entirely on his commentary on a matter of public interest within the meaning of § 17 425.16, subdivisions (e)(3) and (e)(4). “A statement or other conduct is made ‘in 18 connection with a public issue or an issue of public interest’ . . . ‘if the statement or 19 conduct concerns a topic of widespread public interest and contributes in some 20 manner to a public discussion of the topic.’” Stewart v. Rolling Stone LLC, 181 Cal.
21 App. 4th 664 (2010), as modified on denial of reh'g (Feb. 24, 2010), quoting, Hall v.
22 Time Warner, Inc. 153 Cal.App.4th 1337 (2007). “[A]n issue of public interest’ . . . is 23 any issue in which the public is interested.” Cross v. Cooper, 197 Cal.App.4th 357, 24 372-73 (2011) (citations and internal quotations omitted).

25 In light of this broad standard, plaintiff cannot plausibly dispute that the subject
26 matter of the publications at issue is a matter of public interest or a public issue.
27 Indeed, she herself has consistently treated it as a matter of public interest. Plaintiff
28 admits that she broadcasted, via Twitter, her views about the facts concerning the

1 Barn Incident after learning that a world-famous journalist, Andrew Breitbart, had—in 2 a private conversation with another reporter—“mischaracterized” those facts, and that
 3 she did so to “publicly challenge[]” “misconceptions” by the late Mr. Breitbart. (¶
 4 17.) Similarly, Plaintiff admits in her allegations that she immediately broadcast on 5 Twitter her objections to and threats regarding Mr. Frey’s posting on the Blog of the 6 publicly-available documents relating to the civil suit Mr. O’Keefe had filed against 7 her (¶¶ 29, 30), drawing more public attention to them.

8 Moreover, Plaintiff’s description of the events proves beyond cavil that they are 9 matters of public interest. Plaintiff acknowledges that Mr. O’Keefe is a renowned 10 conservative “activist” known for his video exposés on political matters. (¶ 11.) She 11 also describes him as “a popular member of the conservative community who has 12 been vilified by the mainstream press.” (¶ 12.) And much of the Complaint centers on 13 Mr. Frey’s responses to another journalist’s article about Plaintiff and the Barn
 14 Incident. (¶ 27.) Here, therefore, we have (a) an accusation of attempted rape, (b)
 15 made in court filings against (c) a controversial public figure, accusations which (d)
 16 have already been the subject of media coverage. Any one of these components alone
 17 qualifies this subject matter as one of public interest—as do questions of veracity
 18 concerning the accuser, which were the main topic of Mr. Frey’s posting. See, e.g.,
 19 Kashian v. Harriman, 98 Cal. App. 4th 892, 910 (2002) (anti-SLAPP statute applies 20 to commentary concerning legality of subject’s litigation activities where they are “a 21 matter of considerable dispute”).

22 Thus by her own allegations Plaintiff has made, in the Complaint, an irrefutable
 23 case for the proposition that Mr. Frey’s comments concern a “statement or other 24 conduct . . . made ‘in connection with a public issue or an issue of public interest.’”

25 C. PLAINTIFF CANNOT DEMONSTRATE A PROBABILITY THAT SHE
 26 WILL PREVAIL ON HER STATE LAW CAUSES OF ACTION

27 Because the state-law causes of action in the Complaint (as well as the specious
 28 § 1983 claim) arise out of Mr. Frey’s protected speech and trigger the anti-SLAPP

1 statute, under the second part of the two-part test Plaintiff must demonstrate a
2 probability that she will prevail on the merits of those claims. Premier Med. Mgmt.
3 Systems, supra, 136 Cal.App.4th at p. 476. She cannot do so, for the reasons set out
4 below. Therefore, the Court must strike the Complaint and award attorney fees to Mr.
5 and Mrs. Frey.

6 1. Plaintiff Cannot Prevail Against Mrs. Frey Because She Alleges No
7 Facts About Mrs. Frey

8 As a preliminary matter, Plaintiff cannot prevail on any claim against Mrs.
9 Frey, because Plaintiff fails even to allege pertinent facts about her. Plaintiff's factual
10 allegations against Mrs. Frey consist solely of allegations that (1) she is a Deputy 11 District Attorney and (2) speculation, on information and belief, that she is an
12 "admirer" of the video journalist Mr. O'Keefe. (¶¶ 5, 12.) Beyond this the Complaint
13 offers what amount to two conclusions of law against Mrs. Frey—that Mrs. Frey "was 14 an active participant and contributor to the defamatory and harassing activity" (at ¶ 15 36) and that she and Mr. Frey "formed a conspiracy to work together in engaging in 16 the wrongful conduct directed towards PLAINTIFF." (¶ 10.) Plaintiff is otherwise, 17 and in substance, silent about the purported basis of Mrs. Frey's liability. It is 18 axiomatic that Plaintiff will not be able to offer "competent and admissible evidence,"
19 Price, 590 F.Supp.2d at 1266, supporting a claim against Mrs. Frey for anything.

20 2. Plaintiff's Public Disclosure Invasion of Privacy Claim Cannot 21 Succeed Because the Material Posted was Already Public

22 Plaintiff's Second Cause of Action claims invasion of privacy based on Mr.
23 Frey's publication of a deposition transcript in a civil suit between Plaintiff and her
24 former employer that had been filed on PACER. (¶¶ 31, 69.) As it appeared on 25 PACER, that transcript included Plaintiff's Social Security number, date of birth,
26 maiden name, family address, and personal medical information. (¶ 31.)

27 These allegations cannot support a claim for the tort of public disclosure 28 invasion of privacy for two fundamental reasons. First, as is established above, the

1 information published by Mr. Frey concerns a matter of public interest, which itself
 2 diminishes the privacy expectation of the plaintiff. “[P]ersons who have placed 3 themselves in the public light, e.g., through politics, or voluntarily participate in the 4 public arena have a significantly diminished privacy interest than others.” Rosenfeld
 5 v. U.S. Dept. of Justice (N.D. Cal., Mar. 5, 2012, C-07-3240 EMC) 2012 WL 710186.
 6 Second, Plaintiff’s own allegations establish that the facts disclosed were not private
 7 at all when Mr. Frey published them, because the documents themselves, including 8 the Social Security number and other information, had already been published on 9 PACER. Therefore they were publicly available for years before they were published
 10 on the Blog, and Plaintiff did nothing about it.

11 The elements of the tort of a public disclosure of private facts are “(1) public 12 disclosure (2) of a private fact (3) which would be offensive and objectionable to the 13 reasonable person and (4) which is not of legitimate public concern. The absence of 14 any one of these elements is a complete bar to liability. . . [A] crucial ingredient of the 15 applicable invasion of privacy cause of action is a public disclosure of private facts.
 16 A matter that is already public or that has previously become part of the public
 17 domain is not private.” Moreno v. Hanford Sentinel, Inc. 172 Cal.App.4th 1125, 18 1129-30 (2009) (emphasis in original; internal citations and quotations omitted).

19 As set out below, courts have taken a skeptical view of claims that privacy
 20 rights are violated by the publication of material already available to the public on 21 PACER, “an electronic public access service that allows users to obtain case and 22 docket information from [all] federal appellate, district and bankruptcy courts.”
 23 American Civil Liberties Union v. U.S. Dept. of Justice 655 F.3d 1, 7 (D.C. Cir. 2011)
 24 (“ACLU v. DOJ”). The federal courts’ ECF/PACER system is not where someone 25 interested in keeping information private places that information, or allows it to 26 remain. Anyone can register for PACER access, and the technical resources for 27 utilizing it are ubiquitous. In re Killian (Bankr. D.S.C., July 23, 2009, C/A 05-14629-28 HB) 2009 WL 2927950. By virtue of this ready public access, once information is

1 published on PACER it cannot be regarded as private. As the District of Columbia
2 Circuit Court of Appeals explained in ACLU v. DOJ, looking up case information on
3 PACER is “readily accomplished,” continuing as follows:

4 The fact that information about these proceedings is readily available to the 5 public reduces further still the incursion on privacy resulting from disclosure. . . .

6 [There is no] web of statutory or regulatory policies obscuring [such]
7 information, nor much expense nor logistical difficulty in gathering it. To the 8 contrary, computerized government services like PACER make it possible to 9 access court filings concerning any federal [litigant] from the comfort of one's 10 home or office, quite unlike the “diligent search of courthouse files, county 11 archives, and local police stations throughout the country” that a citizen would 12 [formerly] have had to undertake to replicate the contents of [court records] . . .

13 655 F.3d at 7-9 (footnotes omitted). Accord, Long v. U.S. Dept. of Justice 450
14 F.Supp.2d 42, 68 (D.D.C.), order amended on reconsideration, 457 F.Supp.2d 30
15 (D.D.C.), amended, 479 F.Supp.2d 23(D.D.C. 2007). Thus, for example, a trade
16 secrets claim, which like invasion of privacy requires that the information published
17 by the defendant was truly private when published, was found to have been vitiated
18 where the documents in question had been on PACER for even three weeks prior to 19 the date of the decision. Massey Coal Services, Inc. v. Victaulic Co. of America , 249
20 F.R.D. 477, 484 (S.D.W. Va. 2008) (interested party had not acted to seal the 21 materials). See also, Cooney v. Chicago Public Schools (Ill. App. Ct.) 407 Ill.App.3d
22 358, 367, appeal denied, (Ill. 2011) 949 N.E.2d 657 (“personal” and “private”
23 information not synonymous; denying privacy invasion claim based on disclosure of 24 Social Security numbers).

25 Moreover, the courts take a dim view of any attempt to deem material that is 26 part of court proceedings as confidential or private, however they were accessed.
27 “The public has a First Amendment right of access to civil litigation documents filed
28 in court and used at trial or submitted as a basis for adjudication. Substantive courtroom proceedings in ordinary civil cases, and the transcripts and records pertaining to these proceedings, are presumptively open.” Savaglio v. Wal-Mart

BROWN, WHITE & NEWHOUSE
ATTORNEYS

1 Stores, Inc., 149 Cal.App.4th 588, 596-97 (2007) (citations and internal quotations
2 omitted). “It is a ‘well-established principle of American jurisprudence that the
3 release of information in open trial is a publication of that information and, if no effort
4 is made to limit its disclosure, operates as a waiver of any rights a party had to restrict
5 its further use.’” Level 3 Communications, LLC v. Limelight Networks, Inc., 611
6 F.Supp.2d 572, 583 (E.D. Va. 2009).

7 For these reasons, Plaintiff cannot prevail on her claim for invasion of her
8 privacy due to the publication of PACER documents by Mr. Frey on the Blog.

9 3. Plaintiff’s Defamation Claim Fails Because it Targets
10 Constitutionally Protected Hyperbole and Opinion

11 Plaintiff cannot prevail on her Fourth Cause of Action for Defamation because 12 it targets expression that is classic political hyperbole and opinion that is absolutely
13 privileged under the First Amendment and not subject to defamation analysis.⁴
14 In the course of arguing with plaintiff on Twitter about her public claims against Mr.
15 O’Keefe, Mr. Frey is alleged to have written that she is a “liar whose lies will be 16 exposed,” and that Plaintiff “is full of false allegations.” (¶ 60.) These statements, in 17 the context the Complaint describes, cannot be defamatory because the First 18 Amendment provides absolute protection to statements that cannot “reasonably [be] 19 interpreted as stating actual facts” but instead amount to “imaginative expression” or 20 “rhetorical hyperbole.” Milkovich v. Lorain Journal Co., 497 U.S. 1, 20 (1990).
21 Under this doctrine, courts have repeatedly rejected defamation claims leveled against 22 accusations of dishonesty or other misbehavior whose context shows them to be part
23 of a vivid debate and not intended as literal assertions of fact.

24 _____
25 ⁴ Truth, of course, is a complete defense to a defamation claim “regardless of bad faith or 26 malicious purpose” and “irrespective of slight inaccuracy in the details,” Harrell v. George
27 (E.D. Cal., Aug. 22, 2012, CIV S-11-0253 MCE) 2012 WL 3647941. Evaluation of the two 28 sides’ claims and facts in the Complaint and in the documents referred to therein readily demonstrate that on the existing record Mr. Frey’s comments regarding plaintiff’s veracity should be, as a matter of law, be found literally truthful. However, the Court need not reach that defense in evaluating this Motion, as the Complaint fails for other reasons as well.

1 Thus, for example, in Rosenauer v. Scherer, 88 Cal.App.4th 260, 280 (2001), an
 2 anti-SLAPP order was upheld where the defendant called plaintiff a “thief” and “liar”
 3 in “the midst of a heated confrontation over a political issue,” because, as the court
 4 explained, the language was “the type of loose, figurative, or hyperbolic language that 5 is constitutionally protected.” Similarly, in Standing Commission on Discipline v.
 6 Yagman, 55 F.3d 1430, 1440 (9th Cir. 1995), the term “dishonest” was held protected
 7 opinion, because it was “used to convey the low esteem” in which the defendant
 8 lawyer held a judge, not as a literal allegation of dishonesty. See also, Morningstar,
 9 Inc. v. Superior Court, 23 Cal.App.4th 676, 691 (1994) (titling article “Lies, Damn
 10 Lies, and Fund Advertisements” not actionable as libel because it “cannot reasonably 11 be read to imply a provably false factual assertion”).

12 Such invective is especially unlikely to be taken as literally true statements of 13 fact in three contexts all present here: Political disputes, legal disputes, and Internet
 14 debates. See, Beilenson v. Superior Court, 44 Cal.App.4th 944, 950 (1996) (campaign 15 mailer charging politician with “ripp[ing] off” taxpayers “when taken in context with 16 the other information contained in the mailer [is] rhetorical hyperbole common in 17 political debate” and not defamatory); Information Control v. Genesis One Computer 18 Corp., 611 F.2d 781, 784 (9th Cir.1980) (in context of legal dispute, “language which 19 generally might be considered as statements of fact may well assume the character of 20 statements of opinion.”); Chaker v. Mateo, 209 Cal.App.4th 1138 (2012) (affirming
 21 anti-SLAPP order where online insults were properly understood as opinion;
 22 surveying California cases establishing that online expression more likely to be taken
 23 as opinion than fact); Nicosia v. De Rooy, 72 F.Supp.2d 1093 (N.D. Cal. 1999)
 24 (granting anti-SLAPP motion and motion to dismiss where “readers are less likely to 25 view statements as assertions of fact” in context of web site’s claims of misconduct).

26 Mr. Frey’s alleged characterization of Plaintiff as a “liar whose lies will be 27 exposed” and “full of false allegations” (¶ 60) came in the context of an ongoing
 28 online dispute between them over Plaintiff’s contentious litigation against a high-

1 profile and controversial political figure, Mr. O’Keefe. Moreover, the two statements
2 were, according to the Complaint, published on Twitter, a medium limited to 140-
3 character utterances which necessarily constrains precision. Under these 4 circumstances Mr. Frey’s comments cannot possibly be interpreted as provably false
5 statements of fact rather than figurative, hyperbolic language. Therefore, Plaintiff
6 cannot prevail on her defamation claim against Defendants.

7 4. Plaintiff’s Claim of False Light Invasion of Privacy Cannot Succeed
8 Because it is Derivative of Her Defamation Claim

9 Plaintiff cannot prevail on her Third Cause of Action for False Light Invasion
10 of Privacy because this claim is derivative of, and duplicative of, her meritless
11 defamation claim. To prove a claim for false light invasion of privacy, Plaintiff must 12 show that “(1) the defendant caused to be generated publicity of the plaintiff that was 13 false or misleading, (2) the publicity was offensive to a reasonable person, and (3) the 14 defendant acted with actual malice.” Flores v. Von Kleist, 739 F.Supp.2d 1236, 1259
15 (2010). When, however a false-light invasion of privacy claim “is in substance 16 equivalent to an accompanying defamation claim, the false-light claim should be 17 dismissed as superfluous.” Cannon v. City of Petaluma, 2011 WL 3267714, *3 (N.D.
18 Cal. 2011). Moreover, if the underlying defamation claim fails, the accompanying 19 false light invasion of privacy claim fails with it. Flores, 739 F.Supp.2d at 1259 (false 20 light claim failed with defamation claim absent proof of a defamatory statement); 21 Cannon, 2011 WL 3267714, *3 (false light claim failed with defamation claim when 22 complained-of statement was true).

23 Here, Plaintiff’s false light claim fails for multiple reasons. First, it is 24 equivalent to the accompanying defamation claim, and therefore superfluous. Second,
25 just as Plaintiff cannot prove defamation because she cannot prove that Mr. Frey made 26 provably false statements of fact, she cannot prove false light defamation because she 27 cannot prove false or misleading publicity. As discussed above, Mr. Frey’s statements
28 about Plaintiff being a “liar” or “dishonest” were hyperbole and argument, not false

1 statements. Plaintiff also complains that Mr. Frey called her “self-absorbed”—rather 2 ironic in the context of this federal lawsuit— an obvious statement of opinion.
3 Similarly, the allegations that Mr. Frey “relentlessly ask[ed] everyone who would 4 listen why PLAINTIFF failed to call a cab during the barn incident” could not amount
5 to a false statement of fact absent an allegation, not present here, that Plaintiff did call 6 a cab.

7 Therefore Plaintiff cannot demonstrate that she will prevail on her Third Cause
8 of Action for False Light Invasion of Privacy.

9 5. Plaintiff Cannot Prevail On Her Claim For Intentional Infliction of 10 Emotional Distress

11 Nor can Plaintiff prevail on her Fifth Cause of Action for Intentional Infliction
12 of Emotional Distress. To do so she would have to prove “(1) extreme and outrageous 13 conduct by the defendant with the intention of causing, or reckless disregard of the 14 probability of causing, emotional distress; (2) the plaintiff’s suffering severe or 15 extreme emotional distress; and (3) actual and proximate causation of the emotional
16 distress by the defendant’s outrageous conduct,” and that the conduct was so “extreme 17 as to exceed all bounds of that usually tolerated in a civilized community.” Hughes v.
18 Pair, 46 Cal.4th 1035, 1050–51 (2009). No facts exist, nor are they pleaded here,
19 sufficient to satisfy these elements.

20 First, Plaintiff cannot prevail because the conduct she complains of is not, as a
21 matter of law, extreme or outrageous as a matter of law. “Liability for intentional
22 infliction of emotional distress does not extend to mere insults, indignities, threats,
23 annoyances, petty oppressions, or other trivialities.” Id. at 1051. Here, Plaintiff chose
24 to enter a politically charged arena online and publicly advocate her version of events
25 that were the subject of litigation she brought against a controversial public figure.
26 Under such circumstances she cannot possibly establish that Mr. Frey’s online
27 expression questioning her honesty and even insulting her constitutes outrageous
28

1 conduct “so extreme as to exceed all bounds of that usually tolerated in a civilized
2 community.”

3 Second, Plaintiff cannot prevail because the conduct she complains of is debate
4 on a subject of public interest protected by the First Amendment, as discussed above,
5 and hence exempt from attack as infliction of emotional distress. In Snyder v. Phelps,
6 131 S.Ct. 1207 (2011), the United States Supreme Court struck down an intentional
7 infliction of emotional distress judgment against defendants whose conduct was 8 unimaginably more outrageous than the comments by Mr. Frey about the Plaintiff:
9 protestors who waved vile and abusive signs outside the funeral of a soldier killed in 10 action. The Court ruled that as obnoxious as this conduct was, a claim for intentional 11 infliction of emotional distress premised on “outrageous” speech cannot stand when 12 that speech was directed at a matter of public concern, which is entitled to “special
13 protection” under the First Amendment. “In public debate [we] must tolerate 14 insulting, and even outrageous, speech in order to provide adequate breathing space to 15 the freedoms protected by the First Amendment.” Id. at 1219. See also Lam v. Ngo, 16 91 Cal.App.4th 832, 849 (2001) (affirming order granting anti-SLAPP order as to 17 intentional infliction of emotional distress claim, finding that political signs calling 18 plaintiff a communist were protected by First Amendment).

19 Therefore, Plaintiff cannot possibly prevail on her Fifth Cause of Action for 20 Intentional Infliction of Emotional Distress.

21 6. Plaintiff Cannot Prevail on Her Negligence Claim

22 Plaintiff’s negligence claim, a discombobulated hybrid of would-be contract, 23 privacy and tort law, is incoherent and ultimately must fail because it is premised on 24 Mr. Frey’s non-existent “affirmative duty to redact” the information posted by him on 25 the Blog.

26 This claim purports to stand on three sources of duty: Mr. Frey’s “contractual 27 relationship with PACER shown by its terms of use”; California Civil Code §
28 1798.85, which provides, in relevant part, that “a person or entity may not . . . (1)

1 Publicly post or publicly display in any manner an individual’s social security
2 number”; and the common law. None of these claims has any basis in law – none
3 suffices to support the bizarre proposition that Mr. Frey had a personal duty to review
4 and redact a public document taken from PACER before posting it to his blog.

5 Plaintiff’s colorful suggestion that “Mr. Frey’s “contractual relationship with 6 PACER shown by its terms of use” could give rise to a claim by her against Mr. Frey
7 is legally groundless. As an initial matter, PACER is, as discussed above, “an 8 electronic public access service,” not a party with whom one can enter into a contract.
9 Indeed, the Complaint itself does not allege that Mr. Frey himself has personally used
10 PACER to obtain documents posted there. Secondly, plaintiff neglects to specify
11 what she means by the “terms of use” of PACER, which does not have “terms of use”
12 but does have “Policies and Procedures,” found at http://www.pacer.gov/
13 documents/pacer_policy.pdf, a document which is silent as to any matter that could 14 possibly either extend a duty running from Mr. Frey to plaintiff by virtue of his
15 downloading of PACER materials. Indeed, the PACER Policies and Procedures
16 contain no reference to anything that could conceivably relate to her claims, as does
17 the PACER “Frequently Asked Questions” page found at http://www.pacer.gov/
18 psc/faq.html. Even assuming, contrary to fact, the existence of some sort of 19 contractual relationship here, a contract between two parties almost never gives rise to 20 a negligence claim by a third. “Recognition of a duty to manage business affairs so as 21 to prevent purely economic loss to third parties in their financial transactions is the 22 exception, not the rule, in negligence law.” Quelimane Co. v. Stewart Title Guaranty
23 Co., 19 Cal.4th 26, 58 (1998) (setting out factors required to demonstrate such a duty 24 in exceptional cases). Id. Similarly, when evaluating a claim in the guise of an
25 incidental third-party beneficiary of a contract, the determination of such a status
26 “turns on the manifestation of intent to confer a benefit on the third party,” which is 27 ascertained as “question of ordinary contract interpretation.” Spinks v. Equity
28 Residential Briarwood Apartments, 171 Cal.App.4th 1004, 1023 (2009). Neither

BROWN, WHITE & NEWHOUSE
ATTORNEYS

1 allegations nor proof regarding such matters will avail Plaintiff here. Absent the text
 2 of any possible relevant contract, however, such interpretation here would be
 3 impossible. Indeed, even in an imaginary world in which a contract between Mr. Frey
 4 and “Mr. PACER” did exist, Plaintiff could not demonstrate entitlement to relief
 5 under a novel extension of this theory due solely to the remoteness of proximate cause
 6 of any damages due to her longstanding acquiescence to the availability of her
 7 information on PACER. For these reasons, no duty of redaction, whether based on the 8 common law or an imagined “contractual relationship” involving PACER, flows from 9 Mr. Frey to Plaintiff.

10 Regarding Plaintiff’s reliance on California Civil Code § 1798.85, there is no
 11 authority for the proposition that this statute provides for a right of private action for 12 its violation. A statute creates a private right of action only if the statutory language
 13 or legislative history affirmatively indicates legislative intent to do so. Vikco Ins.
 14 Servs., Inc. v. Ohio Indem. Co., 82 Cal. Rptr. 2d 442, 446-447 (Cal. Ct. App. 1999);
 15 Crusader Ins. Co. v. Scottsdale Ins. Co., 62 Cal. Rptr. 2d 620, 626-627 (Cal. Ct. App.
 16 1997). Absent such an indication, “a party contending for judicial recognition of such 17 a right bears a heavy, perhaps insurmountable, burden of persuasion.” Crusader, 62
 18 Cal. Rptr. 2d at 627. This statute indicates no such intent, which is no mere error of 19 omission: The California Legislature considered creating a private cause of action for 20 violation of the statute but chose not to do so. See Assembly Comm. Hearing, S.B.
 21 168, at 4-5 (Cal. June 18, 2001). In contrast to a situation where the legislative history
 22 is silent on a matter, where it indicates a decided legislative choice not to provide such 23 a right, such a choice is powerful evidence that the law does not create one. See
 24 United States v. BestFoods, 524 U.S. 51, 64 (1998) (failure of a statute to speak to a 25 fundamental subject suggests no such meaning was intended).

26 This interpretation is all the more compelling in light of the fact that § 1798.85
 27 was enacted as part of an omnibus anti-identity theft initiative, and, in a companion
 28 provision enacted at the same time, the Legislature created an express private right of

1 action in a companion provision, California Civil Code § 1798.93. Satey v. JPMorgan
2 Chase & Co., 521 F.3d 1087 (9th Cir. 2008). No similar provision exists in Section
3 1798.85, leading to the conclusion that the Legislature had no intent in providing one.
4 See, Longview Fibre Co. v. Rasmussen, 980 F.2d 1307, 1313 (9th Cir. 1992); cf.
5 Russello v. United States, 464 U.S. 16, 23 (1983) (“[W]here Congress includes 6 particular language in one section of a statute but omits it in another section of the 7 same Act, it is generally presumed that Congress acts intentionally and purposely in 8 the disparate inclusion or exclusion.”) (citation omitted).

9 For all these reasons, Plaintiff’s Sixth Cause of Action should be dismissed.

10 D. MR. FREY IS ENTITLED TO AN AWARD OF REASONABLE
11 ATTORNEY FEES FOR MAKING A SUCCESSFUL SPECIAL
12 MOTION TO STRIKE

13 A “prevailing defendant” on the motion to strike “shall be entitled” to recover
14 attorney fees and costs. (Code Civ. Proc. § 425.16, subd. (c), emphasis in original.)
15 The fee award is mandatory: “(A)ny SLAPP defendant who brings a successful
16 motion to strike is entitled to mandatory attorney fees.” There are three alternative 17 procedures by which a successful party may obtain a fee award: (1) the party may 18 request fees in the motion; (2) the party may make a noticed motion for fees after the 19 ruling on the anti-SLAPP motion; or (3) the party may include the fee request in the 20 cost bill after entry of judgment. (American Humane Ass’n v. Los Angeles Times 21 Communications, (2001) 92 Cal.App.4th 1095, 1103.) Mr. Frey will file a separate 22 motion requesting attorneys’ fees if the Court grants his Motion.

23 IV.

24 CONCLUSION

25 Plaintiff’s Complaint falls squarely within the ambit of the anti-SLAPP statute.
26 The complained-of expression is protected, and Plaintiff cannot prevail on her claims.
27 Therefore the Court should strike, without leave to amend, the Second through Sixth
28 Causes of Action.

1
2
3
4
5
6
7
8
9
10
11
12
13
14
15
16
17
18
19
20
21
22
23
24
25
26
27
28

DATED: November 12, 2012

Respectfully submitted,
GOETZ FITZPATRICK LLP LLP

By s/Ronald D. Coleman
RONALD D. COLEMAN
Counsel for Defendants
JOHN PATRICK FREY AND
CHRISTI FREY

DATED: November 12, 2012

Respectfully submitted,
BROWN WHITE & NEWHOUSE LLP

By s/Kenneth P. White
KENNETH P. WHITE
Local Counsel for Defendants
JOHN PATRICK FREY AND
CHRISTI FREY

BROWN, WHITE & NEWHOUSE
ATTORNEYS

