White House Executive Order to Establish New Cross-Border Sensitive Data Transfer Control Regime

On February 28, 2024, the Justice Department published an Advanced Notice of Proposed Rulemaking (ANPRM) to seek public comments on the establishment of a new regulatory regime to restrict U.S. persons from transferring bulk sensitive personal data and select U.S. government data to covered foreign persons.

The ANPRM was published as a response to a new White House Executive Order (EO), issued pursuant to the International Emergency Economic Powers Act (IEEPA), which requires the Justice Department to propose administrative regulations within 6 months to respond to potential national security threats arising from cross-border personal and government data transfers.
