Two separate events are highlighted this week in our continuing coverage of high tech meetings and conferences in the Silicon Valley and San Francisco areas.

First up is the NoSQL Now! Conference in San Jose on August 23-25, 2011. Describing itself as a vendor-neutral affair, NoSQL (Not Only SQL) is for those interested in database technology. Confirmed topics include “Why NoSQL Makes Sense”, presented by Dwight Merriman, Founder of 10gen (and former DoubleClick Founder) and “The Coming Database Revolution”, presented by Robin Bloor of The Bloor Group. The event takes place at the San Jose Convention Center.

On a lighter note, the Tech Women Happy Hour, a social gathering for women coders, product managers, designers, etc. takes place Thursday, August 11 from 6:00pm – 8:00pm at Carnelian By The Bay, a restaurant with a “stunning waterfront setting” and “unparalleled views of the San Francisco Bay” (according to its website). It’s the first event by its organizers and even has its own Facebook Page.

Our firm's mission: To provide exceptional legal representation at a reasonable cost.

The best way to deal with a legal problem is to take it on proactively. That is why our attorneys focus on providing preventative legal services to our business and individual clients, in both high technology and traditional industries. We work hard to devise specific strategies for our clients that minimize the risk of disputes and litigation. But when disputes arise, we are ready to zealously protect our clients' rights in courts and arbitration forums.

Because our lawyers have a broad range of in-depth experience, our firm can provide clients with particular legal advice in many practice areas. We develop a strong professional relationship with our clients, and we promptly answer client inquiries with personalized attention. We appreciate our clients' need to obtain advice from an attorney who truly understands their own unique situations and legal needs.
